ALL-OUT WAR INEVITABLE IN NORTH CHINA

Communists Demand as Price for Peace Central Government Withdraw Its Troops

PREDICT AN OFFENSIVE

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Nov. 8—(AP)—Chinese Communists demanded today that Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, U. S. commander in China, apologize and that compensation be paid for alleged American "interference" in China's internal struggle.

The Reds demanded that Chinese government troops withdraw from all red-dominated areas, as the price for peace, but asserted that the government, instead, was planning an all-out offensive for which 90 divisions already were being massed in the north.

The demand for Wedemeyer's apology was contained in one of four protesting letters sent to the American commander by the Communists' yenan headquarters.

Spokesmen at the Communist headquarters at Yenan called "a complete lie," government claims that the Nationalists have been and would remin strictly on the defensive. More than 70 government divisions have massed around "liberated areas" of Honan province, and Hopeh province is surrounded by more than 20 government divisions the Communists asserted.

Chou En-Lai, Yennan negotiator here and No. 2 Chinese Communist, announced the Yenan answer to Kuomintang peace proposals shortly after reports that the Russians had withdrawn from the Manchurian ports of Hulutao and Yingkow (Newchwang) leaving the Chinese Reds in command, heightened the already tense atmosphere.

Chou said the Communists demanded that the Kuomintang withdraw to positions outside the "liberated" areas before the civil fighting began and order all Nationalists troops to cease firing.

The worried looking Communist representative told newsmen of the Yenan reply to Chiang Kai-Shek's offer and said he would deliver it to Nationalists government officials later today.

"The situation," he added, "appears dangerous."

Chou said he would propose a neutral committee be formed to investigate civil war conditions, and in almost the same breath charged Chiang Kai-Shek with attempting to exterminate the Communists, while holding peace parleys with them. The investigating committee also would consider activities of American troops in disputed areas.

The Communists have obtained proof that while the peace negotiations were under way, Chiang ordered his northern generals to "liquidate" the Communists, Chou said.

Other developments among the growing signs of crisis were:

1. The central government admitted receiving its first serious set back in the fighting in southern Hopeh province.

2. Communists followed up the announcement in Washington that American marines would be withdrawn from the trouble zone with a series of four protests to the American commander in Yenan, and held the Americans "responsible for any grave consequence" resulting from their presence.

The reported Russian withdrawal in Manchuria posed still further troubles for the central government, and greater delays in the landing of Kuomintang troops of which have been reported actually landed from American transports as yet.

The turning over of the ports to the Communists would strengthen their position in the area where they have opposed bitterly the presence of the Americans.

SUICIDE ON RAILS

Philadelphia, Nov. 8—(AP)—Mrs. Marie Colajezzi, 28, Glenside, mother of a two-year-old son, was crushed to death yesterday by a subway train. Police said the woman apparently climbed down on the tracks when the station platform was deserted and waited for the train.

Republicans and Democrats Scan the Election Returns For Evidence of Trend In 1946

Harrisburg, Nov. 8—(AP)—Politicians looked today into the Republicans' state-wide victory and the Democrats' triumphs in two of Pennsylvania's largest cities for evidence of a trend for next year's election of a governor, U. S. senator and legislators.

M. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman, asserted the "tremendous majorities" polled by the Republican candidates for the state superior court "augur well for the future of the Republican party in Pennsylvania."

David L. Lawrence, state Democratic leader whose immediate personal concern was his winning of Pittsburgh's mayoralty, had urged the importance of capturing a Democratic majority on the superior court, in pre-election campaigning. He declined to comment on the state-wide results until he has had time to study the returns.

Lawrence said he will quit as party chairman before he takes ove" as mayor in January. He will retain his post as national committeeman.

Contrasting the vote between last year's victory of the late President Roosevelt over Thomas A. Dewey, with this year's Republican majority for the superior court, the overall result was a relative gain in Republican strength in most counties. Highlighted by Philadelphia's return to its normal position on the G. O. P. side.

Beaver, Carbon and Luzerne also turned from Democratic to Republican, while Fulton and Monroe switched in the other direction. Little Elk county Democratic last year, split its superior court vote to favor one Republican and one Democrat candidate, as did more populous Lehigh county, which favored the Republican presidential nominee in 1944.

The Pittsburgh outcome, leaving Democrats in control of the state's second largest city, was balanced by the Republican sweep of the so-called "Row" offices in Philadelphia's city hall. However, the Democrats entered their capture of Scranton's mayoralty in the credit column.

Republicans won 11 county judgeships, and Democrats, nine, with two Allegheny county seats still in doubt. In some cases there was no opposition at the polls.

Fourteen third-class cities elected Republican mayors, as contrasted with four—aside from Pittsburgh and Scranton, first- and second class-A, respectively which chose Democrats.

The overall vote was well below last year's presidential balloting, prompting Governor Martin to remark that he regretted that "when we consider the 250,000 American boys and girls who made the supreme sacrifice that we could have the privilege of a

Tension Mounting Throughout Java

By RALPH MORTON

Batavia, Nov. 8—(AP)—A band of 1,000 Indonesians was beaten off by British Indian troops and tanks today near Batavia as tension mounted throughout Java.

Almost simultaneously Dutch forces threw back another attack on the Tjillitan airfield on the southeast outskirts of the capital scattering a band of 300 Nationalists after a pitched battle which lasted nearly an hour.

The British colonel whose troops beat back the first attack, aimed at a camp for released Allied internees and war prisoners, said that for the first time the Indonesians appered to be fighting under organized leadership.

He said that when the fighting ceased near the camp the situation was under control, but that the attackers might "come back again after lunch."

LITTLE TOT VICTIM OF HUNTING ACCIDENT

Waynesburg, Nov. 8—(AP)—Five-year-old Francis Pelly of Wind Ridge was killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun yesterday in a hunting tragedy.

The boy's oldest brother, Wesly, 16, and his father, James Wesley Pelly, started from home to hunt squirrels. Francis followed them.

Wesley loaded his gun and swung it up on his shoulder. At that moment Francis topped a rise in the road behind his brother. The impact of the gun on Wesley's shoulder caused it to go off, the charge striking Francis in the heart.

NEW TIP ON MISSING TOT ALERTS COPS

Two Men in Late Model Sedan Sought as Suspects in Disappearance of Boy

CHILD IS BELIEVED SEEN

San Francisco, Nov. 8—(AP)—San Francisco police alerted all California points early today to be on the lookout for two men who may have missing Dickie tum Suden, 3, with them in a late model sedan.

Inspector Joseph Donegan broadcast the alarm after Mrs. Mildred Beer reported a three or four-year-old boy resembling the tum Suden child had come to her door just before midnight, and was seized some time later by two men who forced their way into her home and knocked her down.

She told Donegan she heard a noise at her door and found the blue-suited youngster outside alone. She took him inside, fed him some milk and about an hour afterward called the police.

Three radio squad cars were dispatched immediately to Mrs. Beer's home in a new, suburban residential district in southwest San Francisco.

Five minutes after Donegan had received the woman's call he phoned her back to see if the police cars had arrived. During that interval Mrs. Beer said two men came to the door, claimed they were policemen and pushed their way inside. One struck her on the forehead, knocked her down and held her while the other picked up the boy and carried him to a car parked outside. His companion joined him and the pair raced away with the lad.

The driver of one of the squad cars reported a few moments later that on his way to the Beer home he had seen two bareheaded men in a late model Hudson or Studebaker sedan pull off a park district side road onto the Skyline boulevard.

Mrs. Beer described the man who struck her as 35 years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing approximately 165 pounds and wearing a tweed sport coat. The second she said, was about the same age and weight and about two inches shorter.

A report was flashed to the San Mateo county sheriff's office and a deputy drove up the skyline boulevard to San Francisco but did not spot the hunted car.

The tum Suden boy, scion of a wealthy San Francisco bay area mining family, has been missing since Nov. 1 when he disappeared from the yard of his parents' home at Goodyear Bar, a mining community in the high Sierras. An intensive search in that mountainous country was cancelled Tuesday night after no trace of the boy had been found.

Nazi Saboteur Spilled Details of Spy Mission

Washington, Nov. 8—(AP)—One of the eight German saboteurs landed by U-boats in 1942 made a decline for the FBI and spilled the details of their mission.

This tip resulted in the group being rounded up within 14 days, ruining their plans to wreck TVA—source of power for the atomic bomb project—and other key war and communications projects.

Disclosing this in a statement, Attorney General Tom C. Clark said arrest of the group caused the Germans to change plans to send over a batch of saboteurs by submarine every six weeks.

The informer, George Dasch, contacted FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover soon after slipping ashore with $80,000 in cash and boxes of explosives. He said he and Ernest Burger, another of the saboteurs, had agreed to notify the FBI.

Dasch had lived in the United States from 1922 to 1941, when he returned to Germany.

Berger had served 17 months in a concentration camp for criticizing the Nazi party.

Young Girl Victim of Hammer Attack

Ambler, Nov. 8—(AP)—Justine Hume, 18-year-old Stamford, Conn. girl, told Upper Dublin township police today she was struck on the head a half dozen times with a hammer wielded by a passing motorist last night and knocked unconscious as she waited for a bus on a street corner.

The girl was found by the roadside. Several stitches were necessary to close five deep gashes in her scalp.

Miss Hume, a student at the School of Horiculture for Women here, said a sedan "drove up so close I thought it would knock me down."

"Something hit me—I thought it was the side mirror on the car," she recounted. "Then I saw a man leaning out the window with a horrible leer on his face. He had a big hammer in his hand. I was so scared I just froze. The big hammer seemed to pass before my face and then it came down on my head with an awful crash. x x x As I sank to my knees he hit me four or five times more."

Revised Plan For Discharges Made

Washington, Nov. 8—(AP)—The army has decided to release this month enlisted men with 50 or more discharge points who are on furlough and enlisted men on temporary duty in the United Sttaes.

Most of the men affected, the War Department explained, were in units from Europe whose scheduled redeployment to the Pacific was cancelled after Japan surrendered. It did not estimate the number affected.

The present general discharge score is 60 points.

The army also has laid down exemptions from overseas duty which will affect about 125,000 officers and enlisted men.

Soldier Vote Will Decide Judgeships

Pittsburgh, Nov. 8—(AP)—A military ballot of 12,000 to 14,000, to be counted November 16, will decide whether Judge Joseph A. Richardson or Judge Harry M. Montgomery shall occupy a seat in common pleas court.

Richardson, Republican, held a lead of 2,414 over Democrat Montgomery on the face of unofficial returns from 1019 of Allegheny county's 1,027 election districts.

Generally conceded, though not mathematically in the bag, were elections of Congressman Samuel A. Weiss, Democrat, and District Attorney Russell H. Adams, Republican, to two of the places on common pleas court.

Weiss was credited with 218,413 votes, Adams with 211,888.

Only three judges were to be elected. One of the persons in the top group of four must fall by the wayside with the military ballot count and the official canvass.

If Judge Richardson retains his seat, the court will be evenly balanced, with eight Republicans and eight Democrats, as soon as Judge Michael A. Musmano, in service with the navy, returns to take his place on the bench. Election of Judge Montgomery would give the court nine Democrats to seven Republicans.

Assassination Attempt On Jap Home Minister Is Foiled

Tokyo, Nov. 8—(AP)—Two vagrant Kamikaze pilots who waited with drawn knives in the darkened halls of the home ministry attempted vainly last night to assassinate Home Minister Kenjiro Horikiri.

The 61-year-old minister, attacked as he returned from addressing a meeting of police chiefs on the increase of crime and "chaotic" conditions in Japan, was not injured. The assailants were taken in custody.

At his desk as usual today, Horikiri dismissed the attempt against his life as "unimportant," except as it emphasized the increased "restlessness" among the people.

"The social situation, as you know, is deteriorating," he told The Associated Press in a telephone interview. The attack, he added, increased his personal intention to "work harder for the maintenance of public order."

Horikiri said he possibly would visit the Ueno Park Relief Station where the two former pilots have been living with hundreds of other vagrants, many of whom are forced to sleep in the open. The attack, he said, was in protest against conditions at the station.

The critical food situation, which the home minister placed as the focal point of the unrest, has been multiplied by flourishing black market and the increasing reluctance of farmers to sell their produce at government prices, which are only about one-thirtieth of the black market

T. W. A. Official Is Killed In Crash

Cairo, Nov. 8—(AP)—Jack Nichols, vice president in charge of international operations of transcontinental and Western Airlines, and seven other persons were killed at Asmara, Eritrea, in a plane crash Wednesday, the U. S. Army announced tonight.

The other dead were two TWA officials, A. J. Naylor and Milo H. Campbell, and the army crew of five.

Names of the army crewmen were withheld pending the notification of relatives.

The plane, a B-25 bomber, crashed at 6:30 a. m. Wednesday as it was taking off for the Ethiopian capital, Addis Ababa. The cause of the crash was still undetermined.

This Family Never Loses In An Election

Lodi, N. Y., Nov. 7—(AP)—Mrs. Anna Boyer, Republican candidate for the office of tax collector, polled 308 votes Tuesday, running against her husband, Budd Buyer, who was on the Democratic ticket.

The voters gave Boyer 124 votes. The Boyers have opposed each other for election to that office in the past several years and Mrs. Boyer hasn't lost yet.

Naval Chief Is Supporter Of Training Plan

BULLETIN

Washington, Nov. 8—(AP)—The house military committee's first session to consider universal military training broke up today in a dispute over a move to postpone further action until next year. The surprise move by Rep. Short (R-Mo) was blocked on a technicality, but he asserted he would renew the attempt tomorrow. He told reporters: "You can say this bill is dead; it would be dead right now if we had been allowed to vote this morning." The controversy flared as Secretary of War Robert J. Patterson completed testimony in behalf of the program requested last month by President Truman.

Washington, Nov. 8—(AP)—Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson testified today development of the atomic bomb made essential prompt adoption of universal military training.

"There is only one justification for the establishment of a universal military program," Patterson said. "It is needed to give the United States security and to make it possible for us to underwrite world peace. That is the only basis for asking that every young American give a year of his life to such training."

Patterson was the first witness as the house military committee began consideration of President Truman's Oct. 22 request for immediate approval of legislation to build up a trained reserve through compulsory peacetime training.

Patterson said many people "have convinced themselves that all we shall need in a future crisis are a supply of atomic bombs and a competitive handful of trained men to push the buttons that will set off the bombs."

But, he added, he knew of "no responsible military authority who shares that belief."

"On the contrary," he declared, "all are agreed that the bomb's capacity for destruction and the suddenness with which it can strike enormously increase the need for maintaining in every section of the United States trained citizen-soldiers capable of swift mobilization in the event of an atomic or airborne attack."

He said no one knows ultimate potentialities of the new weapon. "But we known enough to know that is has made war more terrible and more total than before."

"There would be no non-combatants in a future war; every man, woman or child would be in the danger zone," he warned.

Six Army Fliers Die In Air Crash

Elmira, N. Y., Nov. 8—(AP)—Six army fliers were killed today when two planes collided over Chemung county airport.

Airport officials said the planes were from the Treasury Department's "Wings of Victory" armada.

The dead were not immediately identified.

Five of the men were in a B-25 bomber and the other was flying a P-47 Thunderbolt.

Officials said the planes had just taken off and were about 100 feet off the ground when the wing tips collided.

Both planes burst into flames and crashed.

The fliers were en route to Stewart Field, near West Point, after an 8th Victory Loan trip. They took off from Mitchell Field.

Suspect Is Held In Erie Burglaries

Erie, Nov. 8—(AP)—Detective Captain Roy Mong announced today a 22-year-old Erie man was being questioned about a long series of bedroom burglaries which have frightened housewives and brought about an intense police hunt for a "tall thin man with a long black coat."

Mong said the man, a resident of the City Mission, admitted two recent housebreaks. The suspect, a native of Kane, came here from Oakdale, in 1943. No charges have been filed against him.

A dozen housewives have claimed they got a fleeting glimpse of the "bedroom burglar", who was frightened off by their screams. His loot comprised jewelry and money snatched from trouser pockets.

Fight by Auto Workers For Increase in Wages Is Nearing A Showdown

U. S. STEEL POLICY REBUFF TO PRESIDENT

Will Not Resume Wage Talks With CIO Until the Government Decides Price Issue

AWAIT OPA ACTION

Washington, Nov. 8—(AP)—President Truman's labor - management conference toiled through a bulging agenda today, but United States Steel Corporation held the capital's attention with a sharp rebuff to Mr. Truman's wage-price policy.

Through its president, Benjamin F. Fairless, the corporation notified Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach it would not resume talks with the CIO Steel Workers until it had the government's answer on steel price increases.

Fairless dashed cold water, also, on Mr. Truman's proposal that employers grant wage increases now, then wait six months before seeking a price ceiling adjustment from OPA if profits dwindled sharply.

Fairless said if wages are boosted, additional steel price increases—beyond those already pending—will be needed and the corporation, he added, will insist on assurances from OPA that they would be granted "simultaneously" with any wage hike.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO and of the United Steel Workers, had accepted Schwellenbach's proposal that collective bargaining be resumed—in what Murray said was the spirit of Mr. Truman's wage-price speech last Tuesday—under a special conciliator.

The labor secretary's office said Schwellenbach had received both Fairless's and Murray's letters, was "considering" them, and might issue a statement today. The letters were made public.

Grim Story Of Nip Brutality Is Unfolded

By DEAN SCHEDLER

Manila, Nov. 8—(AP)—The grim story of a Japanese reign of terror in Batangas province where 25,000 men, women and children were brutally mistrated or murdered in seven months began to unfold today before the military commission hearing war crimes charges against Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita.

Survivors have said that the death toll of civilians was far greater in Batangas than it was in Manila. Populations of entire villages, these survivors have reported, were held at bay at the point of Japanese guns while the invaders burned down all their homes.

The prosecution's first Batangas witness was Lt. James P. Healey, Jr., of San Francisco, a war crimes investigation officer, who said he learned that some 6,000 Japanese soldiers ran rampant over the province from Oct. 9, 1944, to May 1 of this year, committing acts of brutality on the grounds their victims were guerrillas.

Next witness was a Filipino, Pampilo Umali, from the province, who related that he was tied up with "about 700 men and I don't know the number of women but there were many," and "led off to

ERIE TALON PLANT IS DISRUPTED BY STRIKE

Erie, Nov. 8—(AP)—A strike of 25 tool and die makers, members of the International Association of Machinists, partially disrupted operations last midnight at the Erie plant of Talon, Inc., makers of zippers.

Some employes who went out for a 1 o'clock luncheon found picket lines when they returned and did not reenter the plant; but a majority of the 150 on the night shift continued to work the turn out.

The walkout came almost immediately after a National Labor Relations Board announcement at Pittsburgh that the tool and die makers had voted 23 to 2 in favor of a strike.

COMPROMISE ADJUSTMENT IS REJECTED

General Motors Formally Turns Down as "Excessive" Demands of Union

REPORT ON FORD VOTE

BULLETIN

Detroit, Nov. 8—(AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers announced today a charge of violating the Wagner act would be filed against General Motors Corporation. Walter P. Reuther, vice president of the UAW-CIO, said he would file the charge personally at the Detroit office of the National Labor Relations office this afternoon.

By the Associated Press

The fight by CIO-United Automobile Workers to obtain 30 per cent wage increases for the nation's auto workers appeared headed for a showdown today as the last group of employes in motor's "Big Three" voted in favor of a work stoppage to support the union's demands.

The union yesterday flatly rejected a compromise wage adjustmen program offered by General Motors Corporation at the renewal of negotiations in Detroit. Earlier GM had formally turned down as "excessive" the union's demand for a 30 per cent wage rate hike in the motor industry.

Meanwhile, early returns from yesterday's National Labor Relations Board election among 80,000 Ford Company workers disclosed a heavy majority approved a work stoppage to support the union's wage proposal. Previously employes at General Motors and Chrysler Corporation sanctioned the possible strike action.

The newest flareup in the motor industry - labor fight came as the United States Steel Corporation declined Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach's proposal to reopen wage negotiations with CIO-Steelworkers under a special conciliator.

CIO President Philip Murray earlier had accepted the labor secretary's suggestion that the collective bargaining conference be resumed "in the spirit" of President Truman's recent wage-price speech. The union had asked a $2 a day wage increase. A strike vote among some 500,000 steel company employes is scheduled Nov. 28.

Benjamin F. Fairless, U. S. Steel president, however, in a letter to Schwellenbach said existing ceiling prices "do not enable us to grant a wage increase at this time," and that negotiations would be useless until the price question is settled.

The automobile and steel disputes held the center of attention along the nation's labor front. Work stoppages across the country kept idle some 275,000 workers.

Street car and bus service in Washington, tied up for nearly two days because of a walkout of 4,000 AFL employes of the Capital Transit Co. was back to normal today as negoitiations on wages got under way. The strikers returned to their jobs yesterday after a conciliation conference guaranteed no disciplinary action by the struck company. The union is asking for a 30 cents an hour wage increase.

Picketing at one of the two plants of Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. in Akron, O., was reported ended and some of the 10,000 workers made idle by a work stoppage yesterday returned to their jobs. The stoppage occurred in a dispute between the company

Department Heads Ordered To Aid Pearl Harbor Probe

Washington, Nov. 8—(AP)—The White House said today that President Truman has ordered that the joint congressional committee investigating Pearl Harbor must be supplied with any information it desires.

His memorandum, to federal department and agency heads, as well as to the joint chiefs of staff, authorizes all employes under them to give the committee "any information of which they may have knowledge."

The White House said the president sent out the memorandum last night.

In it he also requested the department heads to authorize employes, even if they aren't questioned by the committee, to "come forward voluntarily" and report any information which they may believe has not been disclosed previously to the congressional investigators.

The president's action came at a time when Republicans and Democrats on the investigating committee were contending that political considerations are imperiling the value of the whole inquiry.

"They have given it such a political turn," Senator George (D-Ga) said of the Republicans, "that I doubt the committee can accomplish very much."

Senator Brewster (R-Me), terming the Democrats' stand "very unfortunate," added: "If there ever was a committee that should be free of partisanship, it is here."

Brewster's contention was that otherwise the public would lack confidence in the ultimate findings.

George and Brewster were interviewed separately prior to a closed door session of the committee.

There are five senators and five representatives on the committee, assigned the job of getting out the whole story on the Japanese success at Pearl Harbor in 1941.

Urges Prayers On Thanksgiving Day

Harrisburg, Nov. 8—(AP)—Thankfulness "as never before" should be in the hearts of Pennsylvanians in the traditional observance of Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 22, Gov. Martin said today in his formal proclamation of the holiday.

"By Divine favor, we have been granted victories over those who plotted in darkness to destroy all that we hold sacred," Martin stated. "Through God's mercy, our nation has been gided safely through the perils of war."

Martin said our prayers should ask that "our nation and the world be spared the agonies of conflict in the future."

He asked a display of the American flag to sympolize "our patriotic loyalty and devotion to the ideals of liberty, justice and equal opportunity" in addition to the traditional observance of the day in home and church.

Windows Of Stores Reflect Holiday Spirit

Store windows about the city are beginning to display toys and gifts for the Christmas season and the volume of buying is also swelling with the purchase of gifts. Stocks are being added to in most of the stores by the arrival of goods that were ordered months ago. Buying for the holiday season this year was later than in other years due to trouble of manufacturers to obtain materials with which to turn out toys, etc.

The buying is not quite as heavy as it was last fall when packages were being readied for overseas sending. Many thousands of soldiers are on their way home and the Christmas mailing this year was comparatively light to men overseas in the armed forces.

Metal toys are again making their appearance this year and boys wagons and doll carts for girls are again in the market although not in great quantities. Chemical sets and magic outfits have a big place on the toy counters this year and there promises to be a greater selection for the little folk than for several years past.

Chills Coming With Mercury Below Normal

Chills and winds are just ahead with the mercury sinking below normal Friday. However warmer weather is promised for Saturday and Sunday. Showers are also promised for tonight and again on Sunday. Temperatures over the weekend are expected to be a little higher than normal.

Reports today from the west are that a cold draft is moving dawn from Canada and that it is expected in Chicago tonight with a definite turn for cold weather with temperatures down to about 15 degrees above zero.

So far this fall the weather has been almost true to form with the mercury a little above normal in this section. September was an unusually wet month and early October was marked by showers but the past few weeks have been highly enjoyable.

Darling Store Heads Buying For Christmas

Eddie Sullivan, manager of the Darling store in this city, impressario of the Christmas Celebration and new papa of a bambino de luxe has returned from Buffalo where he purchased furniture for the local store. Eddie has a sort of persuasive manner which enables him to garner a few truckloads of furniture of the hard to get type for the holiday trade. "Of course", Eddie says, "I got a lot of the newest living room suites, bed room embellishments and a lot of the things a fellow needs in the kitchen. And that's important, too, as the best regulated families now entertain in the kitchen more than in the living room as I landed some of the most oscamelious kitchen equipment you ever saw. Just sort of got something for every room in the house, And, of yes, for that kitchen entertaining we have the Hotpoint Refrigerators everyone has been wanting."

And incidentally while Eddie was in Buffalo G. B. Darling was in New York he purchased heavily of sparklers of various sizes, watches, fountain pins, bracelets, etc., etc. for the holiday trade. "It's going to be a great year", said Mr. Darling "with everyone possessing plenty of money and the buying scheduled to be heavy. This is reflected by the number of buyers in the markets but I certainly was lucky and got just about everything I wanted. However the early buyer, as usual, will be the fortunate fellow."

Pay Roll Savings Division Of Loan Drive Makes Report

B. V. Lesser, chairman of the Pall Roll Savings Division of the Victory Loan Drive, announced today he has received the first reports from about 36% of Warren's 22 industries who accepted a Victory Loan quota for employes. While this report has some bright spots, Mr. Lesser pointed out that much hard work lies ahead. We are still far from our goal and it will require considerable effort and cooperation before Warren can prove her gratitude for our victory.

The Floridin Company, which set no quota, has reported sales of $168.75. Companies with quotas have reported sales as follows:

Very Important Question Is Before Conference On Labor

BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 8—(AP)—The men at the labor-management conference have this very important question on their minds but may do nothing about it.

Should there be an abritration board to settle labor-industry disputes if labor and management can't settle a dispute themselves?

There are labor and industry leaders who want no part of such a board. They fear it might mean, eventually, government dictation to labor and industry.

The preferred way is for labor and management to set around a table, discuss their dispute, and reach an agreement.

That's the way it is now. Too often it doesn't work well. The negotiations break down and labor strikes or management shuts down its plant.

The only thing the government can do to help when negotiations break down is this:

Send in its labor conciliators to try to get both sides together again in the hope they'll finally agree on something.

Under the law the government can't go beyond that. So if conciliation also fails, strikes can go on indefinitely, or a plant can remain closed.

Now look at what President Truman told the labor-management conference:

"If labor and management find they cannot come to an agreement, a way must be found of resolving their differences without stopping production.

"Finding the best way to accomplish that result without government direction to either labor or industry—that is your job.

"The American people know the enormous size of your task. But the stakes are enormous, too. If the people do not find the answers here they will find them some place else."

You can read anything you like into that statement. Labor and management men at the conference probably did not overlook this possible warning:

If labor-industry strife ties this country up in knots after the conference—because the conferees failed to work out machinery for settling disputes—congress may set up an arbitration board to do the settling.

There are bills in congress now to set up such a board.

It is impossible to say what form that board might take.

Coupling Co. Agents Here For Meeting

Representatives of the Thomas Flexible Coupling Company are in Warren for a three day sales convention. These men represent the local company in every state in the union and have been brought to the home office for a concentrated three day study of new designs and installations developed during the war and which are now being converted to peace time uses.

The Thomas Couplings were installed on nearly every type of rotating equipment used during the war. Some of these installations include over 70,000 couplings for gun mounts 30,000 couplings for generating sets used in auxiliary lighting, weldig, etc.; 25,000 couplings used on radar equipment; 10,000 couplings for compressors, pumps and turbines; 5,000 couplings for ship propulsions; 3,000 for Diesel locomotives; and an undisclosed quantity on the now famous Manhattan Project.

The local plant was not confronted with a reconversion problem as they have manufactured couplings only for the past thirty-one years. They employ approximately 100 people and have reduced their total employment less than one percent since V-J Day.

PROMISES FOR PALESTINE

Under a League of Nations mandate, Great Britain in 1922 committed itself to eventual independence for Palestine. Britain also undertook to establish a Jewish National Home there and to safeguard the civil and religious rights of the Arab population.

Although the United States declined to accept the League of Nations mandate, it has more recently gotten into the picture by making promises both to the Jews and Arabs.

Such is the background—a background of broken promises—for the current violence in Egypt and Palestine.

Both the Jews and the Arabs, tired of conflicting plans for solution of the vital and delicate Palestine problem, now are demanding fulfillment of these promises.

That the conflict—which has raged intermittently for a quarter of a century—now is at a critical stage, is evidence by the fact that the pressure on both sides is stronger than ever before. The international movement for a Jewish home worked tirelessly for supporters throughout the war and now has a tremendous backing. On the other hand, the Arabs now are joined in a powerful Arab League comprising the seven states of Syria, Lebanon, Trans-Jordan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Yemen and Egypt, representing about 40,000,000 people.

Foreign oil and strategic interests in the Near East give the Arabs a lever with which to exert strong pressure. King Ibn Saud, the most powerful figure in the Arab world, already is reported to have threatened cancellation of important U. S. oil concessions in his dominion if Arab demands are not satisfied.

The League now is meeting in Cairo, where most of the recent violence has occurred, and is expected to take a stand on the Palestine problem as well as other Near East questions, including the Arab position in all North Africa from the Strait of Gibraltar to the Persian Gulf.

This problem, involving the question of a home for Jews as against the rights of the Arabs, is too dangerous to postpone a solution. The British and U. S. policy of promises and delay will only worsen the situation if permitted to continue. As in the other trouble spots of the world, action is needed quickly to prevent the problem from becoming any more deep-rooted than it is.

HEALTHY SUGGESTIONS

Three years ago the Rockefeller Foundation instituted a survey of the nation's 20,000 private, non-profit health agencies. The results just published reveal a picture of uneven and duplicated effort as well as excellent accomplishment.

The report casts no reflection upon the 300,000 board members and the many more voluntary workers who last year collected almost $60,000,000 for the relief of suffering, and eradication of disease, and the creation of a healthier nation. Rather it suggests that widely varying efficiency of organization among various agencies has brought about a great discrepancy between the incidence of disease and the money available for treatment.

For example, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis collected $16,500,000 in 1945, while the American Heart Association collected $100,000.

The report suggests two remedies: a central agency to give coordinated leadership to the whole national health movement; and local health councils, representing all community agencies, which would integrate health planning and the raising and distribution of funds in the light of local needs.

"The Warren Retailer," official mouthpiece of the Retail Merchants' Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, reminds: "The money contributed in 1944 for the Victory celebration is in an interest account until a suitable time arrives for the Citizens Committee to promote a celebration in accordance with the agreement made with the contributors at the time the money was solicited. This will probably be some time next year when more of the boys will be home. It may be July 4th or it may be in connection with the proposed memorial."

Looks Like a Good Chance to Wet His Whistle

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By BOB THOMAS

"Stork Club," a Paramount Picture with Betty Hutton, Barry Fitzgerald, Don deFore, Robert Benchley and Andy Russell. Running time: 96 minutes.

HOLLYWOOD—"Stork Club," like "Weekend at the Waldorf" and "Diamond Horseshoe," is a picture centered around a New York commercial establishment. If this continues, we will be seeing such features as "Murphy's Motel," "Ptomaine Tommy's" and "The Greasy Spoon."

On the whole, the trend is not a happy one. In the attempt to glorify a hostelry or saloon, the movie maker is inclined to forget story values and to presume that the so-called glamor of the background is enough to justify the picture. It ain't.

In "Stork Club" it is evident that the producers started with the title and then designed a plot around the night spot. It is pleasant, but a contrivance nevertheless.

* * *

THE story concerns a hat check girl (Betty Hutton) who saves a millionaire (Barry Fitzgerald) from drowning. He rewards her with a sumptuous apartment and charge accounts, but poses as a bum to watch her enjoy the windfall. Complications arise when her boy friend (Don deFore) comes home from the marines and wonders how she got the gifts.

The picture is somewhat superfluous, but the performances are good. Betty Hutton continues on her beautifully violent way and delivers some sock musical numbers. Fitzgerald does the best he can with his limited material, and his best is plenty good. DeFore continues to impress as a new leading man. Crooner Andy Russell shows promise in his screen debut. The good Mr. Benchley is virtually wasted.

* * *

"Colonel Effingham's Raid," a 20th-Fox picture with Charles Coburn, Joan Bennett, William Eythe and Allyn Joslyn. Running time: 71 minutes.

HERE is a pleasant picture, done with brevity and good taste. It is handsomely but not expensively mounted, and concentrates more on story values than excessive production.

The main attribute of "Colonel Effingham's Raid" is its humor. Much of it is subtle—the crisp military terms used by the colonel, the unabashed corruption of the small town politicos. Much of it is heightened by a sprightly musical score, which provides a drum roll when the colonel's orderly walks in, a chorus of whistles when Joan Bennett's legs are viewed.

The picture is Coburn's. The other performers, principally William Eythe, are excellent, although overshadowed by the star performer.

The lens of the eye of a fish is round, like a marble, and not flexible, as in human eyes. The fish's eye focuses by movement of the lens forward and backward.

Although the 40-watt incandescent light bulb filament appears to be scarcely more than an inch long, it actually contains about 18 inches of accurately coiled wire.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Factory versus Farm: A Draw

Mel Bates and Jud Polk were arguing the other day about the factory versus the farm. Jud has a job in the tool works and Mel grows the best corn in the county.

"Where would you farmers be," Jud says, "if it weren't for the factories that make your plows and tractors?"

"And where would you factory workers be," says Mel, "unless we farmers grew the food that keeps you going?"

Well, they called it a draw, and made peace over a glass of beer, "brewed from golden farmer's grain," allows Jud, "... and bottled and kept wholesome by the ingenuity of industry," Mel adds politely.

From where I sit, we may have different occupations, different standards, different opinions ... but we're all necessary to one another. And the more we skip the differences, and stress the bigger issues of co-operation, tolerance, and understanding ... the closer we are to a better world.

CHEMURGY

Chemurgy will do its share to augment the Nation's post-war wealth and income to be shared by holders of War Bonds. The new science provided war industries with essential raw materials that were formerly secured from foreign sources. It furnishes now numerous necessities of life from common farm crops. Ohio lists scores of products of corn kernels, wheat, soybeans, sugar beets, potatoes and grapes. Glue, paint, candles, soap, celluloid and endless numbers of other derivatives are obtained from vegetation through the operation of chemurgy.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Ex-Fire Chief Proposes Site For Station

In connection with the discussion underway relative to a site for a new Central Fire Station Former Fire Chief D. G. Kropf suggests that the new station be built at the foot of Market street. He proposes that the station be erected astride the mill race facing directly north. According to his suggestion the rear of the station would be on the island where ground sufficient for the establishment of a training yard could be had. The station facing the north would allow the department to drive directly out on Pennsylvania avenue with a traffic tripper holding traffic until the trucks were out on the avenue. In this site the trucks would also be able to drive into the station and be spotted from the rear.

At the recent Council meeting the building committee reported that the island site at times was covered with water, according to information they had received. It is pointed out by many that the Newmaker property has never been covered with water in the past 40 years and that Clark street has been filled in several feet since the water rose at the south end of Liberty street. Many are still of the opinion that the site on the island is the best yet proposed.

The building committee also reported on the Market street site and also on the lot just west of the Reliable Furniture store between the millrace and creek on Pennsylvania avenue.

There is also the possibility that the committee may recommend that the station now in use be overhauled and continued in use. This would cost considerable money, but not as much as the building of an entire new station. However, persons familiar with the fire department feel the old station is obsolete and not in any way fitted for use as a Central station as there is not sufficient ground about it for a training school.

YMCA Plans Big Kick-Off Party Friday

The annual "kick-off" party of the YMCA which event marks the opening of the winter gym schedule, will be held on Friday, at 7:30 o'clock. The "kick-off party this year will be of special interest to the membership and to the public because it will also mark the opening of the new gym floor.

The opening of the gym floor has been anxiously awaited for the past month and the announcement will be greeted with pleasure by young and old alike.

The new floor which is laid with Armstrong's Asphalt tile over a [illegible] has brought forth numerous favorable comments from all who have seen it. The overall pattern is a cedar effect with contrasting lines for basketball, volley ball, and soft ball laid in the tile. The total effect is not only pleasing to the eye but has a practical quality that greatly appeals to all who have inspected the floor.

Games, relays, a soft ball game, and a basketball game between the Bakers and the Times-Mirror teams followed by a swim will feature the "kick-off" party. All classes of the 'Y' membership will take part in the program which will demonstrate in a limited fashion the many activities that are carried on in the 'Y' gym.

Everybody is invited to attend the party and to inspect the new floor. An interesting program has been arranged and everyone is urged to come out and spend a night at the 'Y'.

Children Invited To Play Tryouts

Almost 100 boys and girls appeared at the Warren public library yesterday afternoon for tryouts for the children's play, "Alice In Wonderland." The second audition was scheduled for 3:30 p. m. today and any children who have not tried out and are interested are asked to be on hand at the same hour on Friday.

This radio adaptation will be presented over WJTN a week from Sunday, November 18th, on the radio drama series, sponsored by the Metzger-Wright Company. It will be the climax of an excellent schedule of events in celebration of National Book Week and American Education Week, which open on Monday.

In the play are many of the famous characters of the children's classic. Of course there is Alice. And when she lands at the bottom of the well, after following the White Rabbit, she finds the Cheshire Cat, the Mad Hatter, the March Hare, the Dormouse, the Gryphon, the Mock Turtle, the King of Hearts, the Queen of Hearts, and the Red Queen.

All of the characters will be portrayed by Warren boys and girls. Mrs. Huff is very much pleased with the talent shown in yesterday's reading. There are still parts open for older boys. The cast will be announced the first of the week.

Community Party Dates This Month

The Committee on Community Education has three community parties scheduled for this month. The Gridiron Finale party on Saturday is for young people in the high school building age group through the early twenties. At last evening's meeting, in the high school study hall, committees discussed final plans and offered suggestions.

The committee has been asked to put on a party for Beaty school at its Education Week program a week from tomorrow, November 16th. Helen McCune and Joe Fuellhart are chairmen, working under the head chairmen for the month, Barbara Benson and Bill Erickson. The party will be limited to Beaty school students and their parents.

Dates to keep in mind for December are December 8th and the 22nd. Betty Lou Hook and William Blair will be co-chairmen for the December community parties at Beaty school.

Floor show events and final announcements will be given in tomorrow evening's edition of the Times-Mirror.

Working under the direction of Mrs. Harold Banghart and Mrs. Byron Knapp, the group has planned a wide variety of articles for the bazaar. Children's items run from three years of age and up, and boys and girls, men and women, will find sweaters, sweater vests, socks, beanies, all types of warm winter articles in this same department.

It is hoped that women of Warren and all nearby communities will make a special effort to visit the bazaar, and those who were present for last year's successful showing are authority for the statement that a few minutes spent there will be well worth any shopper's time and effort.

Isolationism As a National Policy Rapidly Disappearing

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
(Substituting for James Marlow)

Washington—(AP)—The ramparts are tumbling down around the continent of North America. In fact, you might say they have already tumbled.

A new concept in American defense is growing up. It is based on the belief that the geographical reasons for isolationism as a national policy have disappeared.

There isn't any isolation any more.

The new defense lines of the United States are on the Mississippi—or at Pittsburgh—or Chicago—or St. Louis—if and when there is another war. President Truman is authority for that.

These are his words:

"In any future war, the heart of the United States would be the enemy's first target. Our geographical security is now gone—gone with the advent of the robot bomb, the rocket, aircraft carriers and modern airborne armies."

Fit this together with two pieces of information recently given congress:

A scientist who worked on the atom bomb said that in a single night's attack on this country 40,000,000 persons might be killed.

General George C. Marshall said that victory over Hitler was possible because the British and Russian people refused to admit defeat.

The British and Russian people could stand up and fight back because they had time and space in which to recover from Hitler's terrible first blows and prepare for the counter-attack.

But what Mr. Truman now tells the American people is that if they are ever attacked they will not have time to recover. They must, in his opinion, be ready to fight on the instant, or else—

Some of the scientists who have estimated the full future powers of atomic bombs appear to doubt whether even Mr. Truman's analysis of the danger is revolutionary enough.

Their argument is that in terms of destruction and death the United States can't afford to have a war, ready or not.

But as a first measure Mr. Truman says the country must be ready, and so powerful that it may hope no nation will dare to attack.

One of the first captured German aircraft flown to the United States was a JU-220 four-motored bomber. Comparable to a B-29, it does 240 miles an hour, and carries 90 men.

When manufacture of new cars ended in 1942, there were bout 30 million cars registered in this country.

Harpo Turns Down $10,000 Rather Than Say One Word

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Nov. 8—(AP)—Fifty-five thousand dollars for one word—that's what the man says.

David Loew's press agent swears on a stack of old Marx Brothers scripts that the producer offered Harpo Marx $55,000 to utter one word. The word is "murder" and it would be spoken in an important scene in the Marx opus, "Adventures in Casablanca." The producer claimed that a word on the screen by the usually mute Harpo would be worth the money in exploitation value.

But Harpo says no—or just shakes his head. He claims by speaking he would ruin a characterization he has created over a period of years. He declares if he ever speaks on the screen he'll play a non-mute character and talk his yap ofr.

Better think it over, Harpo. Fifty-five grand to say "murder"—that's about $9,166.66 a letter.

My favorite biographer, Gene Fowler, took time out from writing another of his wonderful books to tell me about his plans to memorialize John Barrymore.

"Now don't get me wrong," he warned, "I'm no philanthropist or benefactor. It's just that I wouldn't wont ta see the story of Jack's life loused up by some big studio."

So Gene himself is going to make a movie of his best-selling biography of Barrymore, "Good Night, Sweet Prince." I asked him about his choice to play the great actor.

"I like this guy Zachary Scott," he said. "I haven't seen much of his work, but he seems to have the spirit to play the character and not merely an imitation."

Bob Crosby, out of the marines, is scrambling to get a band together to play a date in San Diego on Nov. 16. . . . Cornel Wilde who has ambitions of being an actor-writer, has written a screen story, "One Fair Day," centered around the New York World's Fair. His studio, 20th-Fox, may buy it and star Wilde and his wife, Patricia Knight. . . Jerome Courtland, who was terrific as the gangling pseudo-father in "Kiss and Tell" is with the army accupation forces in Korea . . . Paramount is trying to find a vehicle for ex-Lt. MacDonald Carey, who made a good impression in a couple of pictures there before joining the marines . . . Linda Darnell flies to the world premiere of "Fallen Angel" in her home town of Dallas Wednesday . . . Irene Dunne and Dr. Francis Griffin will vacation in South America in the late spring. . . Harold Lloyd is rassling with a lion in "The Sin of Harold Diddlebock." "This lion may be 99 per cent tame," he told me, "but it's that one per cent I worry about."

Construction of thousands of super high-frequency radio-beam stations over which telegraph messages, facsimile and teletype will be transmitted, is expected to replace much of Western Union's 2,300,000 miles of wire channels in the near future.

Returned U. S. Army Chaplain Gives Views On Veterans

The first meeting for the 51st eason of the Social Science Sec- ion, Warren Academy of Scienc- s, was the occasion for an ex- ellent paper and discussion by tev. Edward K. Rogers. He took or his subbject "When GI Comes Home." He is highly qualified o speak on this point, having ust recently returned after serv- ng as a chaplain in the First Di- ision in the European theatre.

He opened his talk by pointing ut that this is a difficult subject o treat in a general way, due to he variances of influences upon he veteran as well as his own nake-up. Some men, he said, were ble to stand the strain and rigors of army life under all conditions, and not lose their moral and mental balance, while others fall by the wayside. Many other causes affect the attitudes and outlook of the potential veteran, as Rev. Rogers brought out. These things affect his viewpoint and, as a result, the attitude he has when he is again about to become a civilian.

One point the speaker tried to drive home was that while life in the service brought many new forces to bear on each individual, it could not change the individual's character. If he had strength, he withstood the buffetings of danger, regimentation, boredom, etc. If not, then seemingly he changed. However, he was inherently strong or weak before entering the service. He then went on to discuss the feelings of the man in serving. He pointed out that many GI's took the attitude of wanting to get the war over just so they could go home, not so much because they were fighting that freedom of individual action might prevail throughout the world.

Some, he said, will not want to find changes when they come home, nor make a change in what they were doing before entering the service. Others will want to take advantage of the skills they have learned or the opportunities offered for further education under the GI Bill of Rights. This latter, he thought, would largely apply to those who entered the service directly from high school. Some willl want to start a business of their own, and here he thought that we, who are in business now, could be of real real service to the veteran. He will need a great deal of coaching and aid in understanding the complicities of the business world in order to avoid its many stumbling blocks and pitfalls. The veteran also will want to marry, if he has not already, and here again he needs counsel to be not too hasty in choosing a life mate. Rev. Rogers epressed the belief that the veteran is not so much interested in bonuses as in an opportunity to make his own way, realizing that bonuses cannot correct inequalities or recognize the work done by a combat man.

The speaker seemed to think the veteran will be disturbed over labor-management unrest in the country; also that we should welcome him not with the expression "how does it feel to be home," but rather "glad to have you back home." Thus, if he wants to talk about what he has seen and done he is free to do so and is not forced to recall the things he would rather forget.

It was pointed out, also, in the speaker's opinion, the psychological problems attached to the veteran's return have been overstated and we could do him more good by treating him in a kind, considerable way. He concluded by pointing out that some do strange things not so much due to their connection with the war, but going back to their background and training prior to entering the service.

How a flat wage increase will affect various industries in different ways is suggested by chart above, showing percentage of increase in straight-time pay. Flat wage raise will hit industries which have greatly increased wage rates during war harder than it will those in which increase was slight. Another problem in equitable wage increases is presented by the difference in working hours, as indicated on inset. Maintenance of take-home pay will be more difficult in industries where hours were increased, with resultant overtime pay, than in those in which work hours were cut or remained fairly static.

He had worked for many years as night watchman at the Smith & Horton Co., in this city. Removal was made to the Borden Funeral Home in Sheffield. Plans for the services have not been completed. So far as known he had no near relatives.

It is learned that the body of Wilson McGrew, who died at his home in Pittsfield on November 2, has been taken to Pittsburgh for interment. Aged 82, Mr. McGrew came to Pittsfield about 60 years ago and had lived there ever since. He had been in failing health for some time.

A lumberman in the vicinity of Pittsfield for nearly half a century, he was at one time president of the Youngsville National Bank and served for a time as vice president of the Forest Manufacturing Company in Youngsville. He was active in politics and had served at different times as member of the Pittsfield township school board.

Kiwanis Club Ladies' Night

Holding their regular meeting at the Carver Hotel at noon on Wednesday, members of the Kiwanis Club were reminded of the annual Ladies' Night to be observed at the North Warren community house next Wednesday evening, November 14.

Arrangements will center about the harvest theme, the affair to be informal and the committee promising fun and entertainment for all who attend. Tickets were distributed at the meeting and indications point to a large attendance. Reservations for the party will be closed on Friday evening, it is stated.

Members and their guest, Dr. Arthur O'Connor, heard a fine talk given by Harold Putnam on some phases of the history and development of Warren county. Going back to the days of French and English struggles for the tertory and the early selection of Warren as site for a community, he related the establishment of the county about 1880, institution of legal processes in 1819, the first steamboat to come here in 1930 from Pittsburgh and the visit of the second, the New Castle, en route from Pittsburgh to Olean in 1837. He also recalled that a keel boat was poled from Pittsburgh to Mayville at the northern end of Chautauqua lake about that same time. The Indian settlements and many other incidents of early days added color and interest to the fine address.

Turkey Crop This Year Is Large, Recent Survey Shows

America's original native bird, the turkey, will be available to consumers this year—thus the housewife gets one more break as a result of the conclusion of the war. So says the turkey marketing committee of the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council, which made a survey of the turkey crop recently.

Growers who know the demands of the average family warn housewives that orders should be placed early to insure the type of turkey desired. While the growers were producing turkeys for the armed forces, they produced birds larger than generally desired for the family holiday dinner. As a result, the growers committee pointed out there will be a higher percentage of the larger birds this year. The larger male birds weigh from 25 to 30 pounds each, while the large females average about 20 pounds each.

Many of the larger birds will be purchased by hotels and restaurants because of requiring less sotrage space and because they produce more servings. It is too late to regulate the size of the bird this year, growers claim. The average size family usually prefers a young hen turkey, which is the first of the flock to disappear. Thus, the reason why the marketing committee from the growers organization advises ordering turkeys early.

A. L. Mackie, East Kingston, N. H., president of the Northeast turkey growers group, points out that this does not mean the members of the armed forces will not be served turkeys. Mr. Mackie said: "We know the military forces will have sufficient turkeys to serve our men and women still in uniform during the holidays."

Chicago Motor Club and the Automobile Club of Michigan have joined forces to help bring about a Chicago-Detroit Expressway, permanently linking those two cities with a modern, up-to-date super-highway. Traffic surveys have shown that present facilities linking Detroit and Chicago are carrying from 5000 to 10,000 vehicles a day.

Swede Larson, Famous Navy Mentor, Dies

Atlanta, Nov. 8—(AP)—Colonel Emery Ellsworth "Swede" Larson, famous football figure and veteran of two wars, is dead.

The passing of the 46-year-old colonel of Marines here yesterday stunned grid fans who had followed his career, first as a player and later as coach of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

The end came after the third of a series of heart attacks. He was first stricken about two weeks ago and removed to the U. S. Naval Air Station Hospital.

A big, likeable man with a booming voice, "Swede" was known for his inspirational leadership and for the "jinx" he held over the Army. In the three years he played center in 1919, 1920 and 1921 and the three years he coached, 1939, 1940 and 1941, Navy scored six straight victories over the West Point Cadets.

During the 1941 game, played at Philadelphia a slim week before Pearl Harbor, Army held a 6-0 half-time lead only to have the Middies rally after the intermission for two third period touchdowns and a 14-6 triumph.

In the dressing room afterwards he told reporters, "This will be the last football game for me for quite a while. There's a bigger game coming up and I'm going to be in it."

BEHIND THE LINES

NEW CAGE RULES

Several new basketball rulings have been adopted by the National Rules Committee, none of them major changes, but all of which will become effective here.

Always in the past, when a team took possession of the ball out of bounds under its own basket, one man elected to throw the ball in. A new ruling provides that two men, not one, may stand out of bounds at the same time under their own basket to throw the ball into play. The two men may pass back and forth, trying to confuse the opponent, before passing the ball onto the court.

Always in the past, also, there have been what was termed "officials' time outs" mid-way between each second and fourth quarters. Most of the time, however, these time outs were not enforced. Another new ruling provides that any player who is taken from the game during the final four-minute period may not re-enter the game. Therefore, coaches will not be liable to substitute so freely in the closing minutes because of the ruling.

The third ruling pertains to the ten-second enforcement. This problem has been tinkered with from year to year, and never definitely settled. Last year, if a player had not yet reached mid-court and his ten-second limit was near the end, he could hit a referee or an opposing player who was in defending territory with the ball, so that he would again have possession in the back-court and also an additional ten seconds in which to get the ball into offensive territory. The third new ruling provides that a player may not bounce the ball off a referee, but he may do so to another opposing player.

Many Attend First Confab Of Y League

Possibilities of a city basketball league equalling those of pre-war days loomed brighter today after a meeting held last night at the YMCA by team representatives and officials.

Nine teams were represented at last night's confab, including Bakers, Blomquists, Sylvania, Forge, and Struthers from last year's league and Sheffield Penn Bottle, Youngsville Skating Rink, Sheffield Servicemen's Unit, and an independent five. The O'Connor Machine Shop, of Sheffield, has also signified its interest in the league.

Those attending the meeting approved the formation of either a nine or ten-team league, with Mondays and Thursdays open for game nights. It is planned to have two games on Monday nights and three games on Thursday nights.

A schedule committee, consisting of "Red" Swanson, Nick Creola, and Lloyd Shirk, program secretary at the Y, was named, and the following officers for the league elected: president—Nick Creola; vice-president — "Red" Swanson; secretary—Richard Harris; treasurer—Felix Mira.

The committee and team representatives will meet again Friday night, at which time the schedule will be proposed, rosters, rules and reglations approved, and other business items taken up.

Swedish Track Stars, Haegg And Andersson, Are Declared Professionals By Officials

Stockholm, Nov. 8—(AP)—Arne Andersson and Gunder Haegg, world-record holding Swedish runners, and 13 top-ranking Swedish track stars, were declared professionals today by the Swedish Athletic Association, the newspaper Expressen said.

There was no official announcement as yet from the association, which has been conducting a sweeping investigation into the entire Swedish track setup.

Earlier the association announced a finding that payments of fees to top Swedish track stars by leading sports clubs constituted a breach of amateur regulations and indicated there would be disciplinary measures against both clubs and performers. The association did not name the individuals involved, and had announced it would not do so until completion of the nationwide inquiry.

A finding that Andersson is professional would cancel his projected trip to the United States for the indoor season this winter.

Swedish sports writers said that classing Haegg and Andersson as professionals might also place some of thei records in jeopardy.

The far-reaching inquiry brought an admission by leaders of Stockholm's biggest sports clubs that fees had been paid top-ranking track stars during the past five years as inducements to participate in track events.

Expressen listed these stars, besides Haegg and Andersson, as having been adjudged professional: Lennart Strandberg, Sweden's best sprinter Hans Liljeqvist, Lars Nilsson, Tore Tillman, Sven Malmberg, Sven Ljungren, Nehry Kaelarne, Aake Spaangert, Bror Hellstroem, Rune Persson, Rune Gustafsson, Eric Elmsaeter and Goesta Jacobsson.

Both Andersson and Haegg told sports writers they would continue to train and Strandberg said in an interview with the Stockholm's Tidningen that if the athletic association went through with its campaign against professionalism, "we will build a professional association composed of 25 of Sweden's current top track performeds."

Bertil Von Wachenfeldt, track writer for the same paper, wrote that "the inevitable result of this action against clandestine professionalism will be to decrease Sweden's track and field events catastrophically next year."

The association had heard testimony from about 100 sports leaders heading athletic clubs.

BROADWAY

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK—When "The Red Mill" turned its merry way into Broadway popularity and became an immediate smash hit despite the fact that it is 40 years old, everyone started looking around for the reason for its sudden success.

While there is no reason to dispute the fact that Eddie Foy Jr., a real chip off his dad's dancing shoes, gathered the best of the reviews, and that Michael O'Shea came in for more than a small share of the kudos thereupon handed around, the real reason for the success of this veneral delight is Billy Gilbert, who directed.

* * *

YEP, this is the same Billy Gilbert whose dialects, sneezes and king-size figure have given many a movie the comic hypodermic it needed. His very appearance many times sent film audiences into guffawing hysterics. This was a fellow who knew his buffooning onions, whose lengthy screen employment had given him excellent opportunity to perfect every sort of nutty comic style. He delved into every textbook on comedy he could find. He wanted to perfect his own droll gifts in order to be a better film funny man.

All this mirthful research, it now turns out, prepared him for a much more responsible job than being a Hollywood comic. His screen appearances paid him handsomely, but he wanted to go on to wider accomplishment: Directing, perhaps, even producing.

A few years ago he found the opportunity he sought. He directed a couple of operettas for the summer series of the Civic Light Opera Association in Los Angeles and San Francisco, under the auspices of Edwin Lester, whose "Song of Norway" is a Broadway smash. "The Gypsy Baron," "The Chocolate Soldier" and other musical revivals gave him the chance to try out his storehouse of theatrical research as well as some fresh ideas of his own. Last year he directed and played in "Sally," and when Edwin Lester saw what he could do, he assigned him promptly to direct "The Red Mill."

* * *

A HIT on the Coast, "The Red Mill" was brought east by Paula Stone and Hunt Stromberg, Jr., son of the Hollywood producer, and now has been established at the Ziegfeld Theater as a definite success. Gilbert's directing came in for major honors, and already he has been signed to direct two more shows for the young but already successful Stone-Stromberg firm.

One note of coincidence: Gilbert was under personal contract 18 years ago to Hunt Stromberg, father of the lad who shares producing honors in the new production of the Victor Herbert operetta.

"And I hope to work with Junior's son sometime, too," Billy said.

WOMAN IS KILLED IN CROSSING TRAGEDY

Sharon, Nov. 8—(AP)—A Pennsylvania railroad passenger train crashed into an automobile at a crossing last night, killing Mrs. Mary Waslko Bonaquist, 24, and critically injuring her husband, James, who was discharged from the Marine Corps only two weeks ago.

The woman's body was found alongside the tracks 100 feet from the crossing and the man was carried 800 feet in the wrecked car. He was taken to Buhl Hospital with a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Sharon police said Bonaquist stopped at the crossing, waited for a freight train to pass, then pulled onto the tracks in front of the passenger train which came from the opposite direction.

OLEAN WILL HAVE A HEARING ON FLOOD

Pittsburgh, Nov. 8—(AP)—The U. S. Engineer's Office announced today a hearing will be held November 19 at Olean, N. Y., to consider the need for flood control in Olean and its vicinity.

A statement giving notice of the hearing said:

"Field investigations indicated that, in view of the extreme floor of July, 1942, Olean, Portville and Allegheny have flood problems and that certain flood protection measures have been taken locally."

The hearing was authorized by congress December 1, 1943, but held in abeyance during the war, although field surveys and investigations have been in progress from time to time, the statement said.

"When my time came, about 200 already had jumped and after I jumped at least another 100 followed me."

Before Japanese soldiers covered the well with native bamboo sheets, Umali said, they threw in some rocks, "dropped a sewing machine," and fired in many shots.

Sometime after midnight, the witness continued, some Filipino women sneaked to the well and lowered ropes up which six men escaped. Many of the women liberators were captured and never seen again.

The new road-block in the administration's drive for labor peace loomed just as a minor but irritating snag was cleared away—the 30-hour tie-up of all bus and setreet car services in Washington.

Three Sisters Picket The Supreme Court

Wasington, Nov. 8—(AP)—Now it's the supreme court that's being picketed.

Three Altoona, Pa., sisters paraded in front of the impressive white building yesterday. They carried placrds which claimed that the constitutional rights of one of them, Mrs. Edith Nycum, have been violated.

The supreme court recently refused to review Mrs. Nycum's conviction in a police magistrate court for failure to get a permit to display signs.

Mrs. Nycum said her niece, Margaret Shields Emerick, was slain November 16, 1941, but that city and Blair county authorities called the death a suicide and refused to conduct a coroner's inquest.

She was arrested, she said, after she put up signs in protest. This, she declared, deprived her of her constitutional right of freedom of the press.

Drunk Lucky As Police Save His Bankroll

Police last evening gathered in a fellow who had become possessed of an overload of joy wter and had become a little noisy in his celebration. At the police station when they gave the fellows pockets the "several times over" the sum of $1200 was found. The money was mostly in $50 bills and the fellow can thank the cops for putting himself and his money in safe keeping as had some of the boys about town joined in on his fun they would undoubtedly have given him the famous "roll" treatment. He posted a wad of greenbacks for his hearing this morning.

Sweet dreams of three runaway boys from Olean, who had bedded down in the Company I monument at the bridgehead, were interrupted by police last night. The trio was taken to the police station and confessed that they had ran away from school yesterday at noon and hitchhiked to Warren. Getting here about 9:30 they concluded it was a balmy evening and ensconced themselves on the marble seats for a siesta. The lads gave the names of Bruce Miller, 12; Don McKinney, 13 and Gerald Ozella, 13. The coppers gave the boys a lunch and they slept in the headquarters for the night while police called Olean police headquarters and arranged for the return to the boys to their homes.

"The Hooktown Gang" famed years ago as being possessed of the devil and strong right arms seems to be on the march again. During the past few weeks buses have been stoned, wires placed across sidewalks, street lights broken and last night they proceeded to cut a number of clotheslines at various homes and at one damaged a revolving clothes reel. The cops are on their trail.

A pick-up truck stolen Tuesday night was found in the Penn Bowling Alley parking lot yesterday and returned to its owner.

their interest in tris splendid school project.

The High School auditorium was the scene of a Hallowe'en party costumesgiven on Tuesday evening. The costumes were appropriately funny and prizes were awarded. The evening was spent in games and other amusements after which lunch was served.

The DeForest Pavilion of Wildcat Park was the scene of a gala affair on Friday night with about sixty people in attendance at a Hallowe'en party representing adults of Ludlow. The costumes were all fine. The most difficult people to guess were Miss Millie Morelli wearing an old-fashioned girl's costume, and Melvin McCleary dressed as an Indian brave. The most noticed costume was a German uniform worn with a Hitler moustache by Clyde Gilfert, the uniform having been sent from Germany. An attractive pair were the Scotch boy and girl costumes worn by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Swanson, and Mrs. Wm. Hanson was pretty as a Colonial girl. Dancing was enjoyed with music furnished by several Kane musicians as well as Mr. Earl Eastman, Mrs. Ed. Wenstran and Mrs. Verna Ralston of Ludlow. Lunch was served in the late evening at an attractively decorated table. The entire pavilion was beautifully decorated. The committee was headed by Mrs. Wm. Hanson and Mrs. Walter Cox with many co-operative assistants.

Mrs. L. B. Connelly entertained on Monday evening at a birthday party for her son, James, who became twelve years old. The afternoon was spent in games and supper was served at six after which Master James opened his interesting gifts. Friends present were Gail Olson, Jack Gilfert, Philip and Michael Swanson, Vernon Nelson, Kiester Connelly and Tommy Safstrom.

Mrs. Evert Johnson entertained at a party on Friday afternoon for her small daughter, Judy, who celebrated her third birthday. Games and other amusements were enjoyed after which birthday refreshments were served. Little guests present were Alexandra Connelly, Gerald and Geraldine Nystrom, Johnny Cox and Shirley Phillips, of Dornsife, Pa. Out of town adults present were: Mrs. Roland Christenson, Mrs. Harold Christenson, Mrs. Eugene Johnson and Mrs. Ellen Brennan, of Kane; Mrs. George Dedman, of Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. Stanton Phillips of Dornsife, Pa., and Mrs. James T. Norton, of Kent, Ohio.

Messrs. Clyde and Keith Gilfert and M. I. Jones spent Saturday in Clarion county hunting for small game, with Keith getting the limit in rabbits. This is the twelfth season that Mr. Clyde Gilfert and Mr. Jones have hunted for one day with H. Seigworth and Robert Graham, of event to which they look forward. It is the second season for Keith who outshone those veteran hunters this season.

G. A. Olson, Miss Tillie Olson and Captain Ellen Olson arrived home on Monday after spending some time with relatives in Pittsburgh, Dayton and Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Lantz and daughter, Linda, of Erie; Miss Betty Lou Anderson, of Syracuse University, and Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Carlson, of Jamestown, were weekend guests of Mrs. Albert Lantz.

Allen Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Nelson, recently discharged from the U. S. Army, has resumed his teaching and coaching position in the Russell high school.

Paul Swanson, recently discharged from the U. S. Army, spent the weekend with his wife in Greenville.

Mrs. Fred Sapper of Erie spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Swanson. Mr. Swanson is recuperating rapidly.

Mrs. Jelmar Mattison is recovering nicely after an operation performed ten days ago. She is a patient at the Kane Summit Hospital.

Henry Shipe of Youngsville spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Connelly.

Mrs. James T. Norton of Kent, Ohio, has been a house guest of Mrs. B. K. Connelly during the last week.

The Community Auxiliary met on Monday evening at Wildcat Park in the DeForest pavilion with a good attendance. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. George W. Olmsted. It was decided to hold the November meeting at the pavilion also. Refreshments were served at a Hallowe'en decorated table by Mrs. Melvin McCleary, Mrs. John Fo Jr., Mrs. R. E. Wenstran, Mr Carl L. Swanson and Mrs. Georg Anderson.

ALL-OUT WAR INEVITABLE IN NORTH CHINA

Communists Demand as Price for Peace Central Government Withdraw Its Troops

PREDICT AN OFFENSIVE

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Nov. 8—(AP)—Chinese Communists demanded today that Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, U. S. commander in China, apologize and that compensation be paid for alleged American "interference" in China's internal struggle.

The Reds demanded that Chinese government troops withdraw from all red-dominated areas, as the price for peace, but asserted that the government, instead, was planning an all-out offensive for which 90 divisions already were being massed in the north.

The demand for Wedemeyer's apology was contained in one of four protesting letters sent to the American commander by the Communists' yenan headquarters.

Spokesmen at the Communist headquarters at Yenan called "a complete lie," government claims that the Nationalists have been and would remin strictly on the defensive. More than 70 government divisions have massed around "liberated areas" of Honan province, and Hopeh province is surrounded by more than 20 government divisions the Communists asserted.

Chou En-Lai, Yennan negotiator here and No. 2 Chinese Communist, announced the Yenan answer to Kuomintang peace proposals shortly after reports that the Russians had withdrawn from the Manchurian ports of Hulutao and Yingkow (Newchwang) leaving the Chinese Reds in command, heightened the already tense atmosphere.

Chou said the Communists demanded that the Kuomintang withdraw to positions outside the "liberated" areas before the civil fighting began and order all Nationalists troops to cease firing.

The worried looking Communist representative told newsmen of the Yenan reply to Chiang Kai-Shek's offer and said he would deliver it to Nationalists government officials later today.

"The situation," he added, "appears dangerous."

Chou said he would propose a neutral committee be formed to investigate civil war conditions, and in almost the same breath charged Chiang Kai-Shek with attempting to exterminate the Communists, while holding peace parleys with them. The investigating committee also would consider activities of American troops in disputed areas.

The Communists have obtained proof that while the peace negotiations were under way, Chiang ordered his northern generals to "liquidate" the Communists, Chou said.

Other developments among the growing signs of crisis were:

1. The central government admitted receiving its first serious set back in the fighting in southern Hopeh province.

2. Communists followed up the announcement in Washington that American marines would be withdrawn from the trouble zone with a series of four protests to the American commander in Yenan, and held the Americans "responsible for any grave consequence" resulting from their presence.

The reported Russian withdrawal in Manchuria posed still further troubles for the central government, and greater delays in the landing of Kuomintang troops of which have been reported actually landed from American transports as yet.

The turning over of the ports to the Communists would strengthen their position in the area where they have opposed bitterly the presence of the Americans.

SUICIDE ON RAILS

Philadelphia, Nov. 8—(AP)—Mrs. Marie Colajezzi, 28, Glenside, mother of a two-year-old son, was crushed to death yesterday by a subway train. Police said the woman apparently climbed down on the tracks when the station platform was deserted and waited for the train.

Republicans and Democrats Scan the Election Returns For Evidence of Trend In 1946

Harrisburg, Nov. 8—(AP)—Politicians looked today into the Republicans' state-wide victory and the Democrats' triumphs in two of Pennsylvania's largest cities for evidence of a trend for next year's election of a governor, U. S. senator and legislators.

M. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman, asserted the "tremendous majorities" polled by the Republican candidates for the state superior court "augur well for the future of the Republican party in Pennsylvania."

David L. Lawrence, state Democratic leader whose immediate personal concern was his winning of Pittsburgh's mayoralty, had urged the importance of capturing a Democratic majority on the superior court, in pre-election campaigning. He declined to comment on the state-wide results until he has had time to study the returns.

Lawrence said he will quit as party chairman before he takes ove" as mayor in January. He will retain his post as national committeeman.

Contrasting the vote between last year's victory of the late President Roosevelt over Thomas A. Dewey, with this year's Republican majoriy for the superior court, the overall result was a relative gain in Republican strength in most counties. Highlighted by Philadelphia's return to its normal position on the G. O. P. side.

Beaver, Carbon and Luzerne also turned from Democratic to Republican, while Fulton and Monroe switched in the other direction. Little Elk county Democratic last year, split its superior court vote to favor one Republican and one Democrat candidate, as did more populous Lehigh county, which favored the Republican presidential nominee in 1944.

The Pittsburgh outcome, leaving Democrats in control of the state's second largest city, was balanced by the Republican sweep of the so-called "Row" offices in Philadelphia's city hall. However, the Democrats entered their capture of Scranton's mayoralty in the credit column.

Republicans won 11 county judgeships, and Democrats, nine, with two Allegheny county seats still in doubt. In some cases there was no opposition at the polls.

Fourteen third-class cities elected Republican mayors, as contrasted with four—aside from Pittsburgh and Scranton, first- and second class-A, respectively which chose Democrats.

The overall vote was well below last year's presidential balloting, prompting Governor Martin to remark that he regretted that "when we consider the 250,000 American boys and girls who made the supreme sacrifice that we could have the privilege of a

Tension Mounting Throughout Java

By RALPH MORTON

Batavia, Nov. 8—(AP)—A band of 1,000 Indonesians was beaten off by British Indian troops and tanks today near Batavia as tension mounted throughout Java.

Almost simultaneously Dutch forces threw back another attack on the Tjililitan airfield on the southeast outskirts of the capital scattering a band of 300 Nationalists after a pitched battle which lasted nearly an hour.

The British colonel whose troops beat back the first attack, aimed at a camp for released Allied internees and war prisoners, said that for the first time the Indonesians appered to be fighting under organized leadership.

He said that when the fighting ceased near the camp the situation was under control, but that the attackers might "come back again after lunch."

LITTLE TOT VICTIM OF HUNTING ACCIDENT

Waynesburg, Nov. 8—(AP)—Five-year-old Francis Pelly of Wind Ridge was killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun yesterday in a hunting tragedy.

The boy's oldest brother, Wesly, 16, and his father, James Wesley Pelly, started from home to hunt squirrels. Francis followed them.

Wesley loaded his gun and swung it up on his shoulder. At that moment Francis topped a rise in the road behind his brother. The impact of the gun on Wesley's shoulder caused it to go off, the charge striking Francis in the heart.

NEW TIP ON MISSING TOT ALERTS COPS

Two Men in Late Model Sedan Sought as Suspects in Disappearance of Boy

CHILD IS BELIEVED SEEN

San Francisco, Nov. 8—(AP)—San Francisco police alerted all California points early today to be on the lookout for two men who may have missing Dickie tum Suden, 3, with them in a late model sedan.

Inspector Joseph Donegan broadcast the alarm after Mrs. Mildred Beer reported a three or four-year-old boy resembling the tum Suden child had come to her door just before midnight, and was seized some time later by two men who forced their way into her home and knocked her down.

She told Donegan she heard a noise at her door and found the blue-suited youngster outside alone. She took him inside, fed him some milk and about an hour afterward called the police.

Three radio squad cars were dispatched immediately to Mrs. Beer's home in a new, suburban residential district in southwest San Francisco.

Five minutes after Donegan had received the woman's call he phoned her back to see if the police cars had arrived. During that interval Mrs. Beer said two men came to the door, claimed they were policemen and pushed their way inside. One struck her on the forehead, knocked her down and held her while the other picked up the boy and carried him to a car parked outside. His companion joined him and the pair raced away with the lad.

The driver of one of the squad cars reported a few moments later that on his way to the Beer home he had seen two bareheaded men in a late model Hudson or Studebaker sedan pull off a park district side road onto the Skyline boulevard.

Mrs. Beer described the man who struck her as 35 years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing approximately 165 pounds and wearing a tweed sport coat. The second she said, was about the same age and weight and about two inches shorter.

A report was flashed to the San Mateo county sheriff's office and a deputy drove up the skyline boulevard to San Francisco but did not spot the hunted car.

The tum Suden boy, scion of a wealthy San Francisco bay area mining family, has been missing since Nov. 1 when he disappeared from the yard of his parents' home at Goodyear Bar, a mining community in the high Sierras. An intensive search in that mountainous country was cancelled Tuesday night after no trace of the boy had been found.

Disappears

(NEA Telephoto)

Widespread search is in progress for Thora Chamberlain, above, 15, San Jose, Calif., high school student, last seen as she climbed into a car with an unidentified man on November 2. Other students said the stranger had been asking school girls if they wanted to take care of children. Police express fears for the girl's safety

Nazi Saboteur Spilled Details of Spy Mission

Washington, Nov. 8—(AP)—One of the eight German saboteurs landed by U-boats in 1942 made a decline for the FBI and spilled the details of their mission.

This tip resulted in the group being rounded up within 14 days, ruining their plans to wreck TVA—source of power for the atomic bomb project—and other key war and communications projects.

Disclosing this in a statement, Attorney General Tom C. Clark said arrest of the group caused the Germans to change plan: to send over a batch of saboteurs by submarine every six weeks.

The informer, George Dasch, contacted FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover soon after slipping ashore with $80,000 in cash and boxes of explosives. He said he and Ernest Burger, another of the saboteurs, had agreed to notify the FBI.

Dasch had lived in the United States from 1922 to 1941, when he returned to Germany.

Berger had served 17 months in a concentration camp for criticizing the Nazi party.

Young Girl Victim of Hammer Attack

Ambler, Nov. 8—(AP)—Justine Hume, 18-year-old Stamford, Conn. girl, told Upper Dublin township police today she was struck on the head a half dozen times with a hammer wielded by a passing motorist last night and knocked unconscious as she waited for a bus on a street corner.

The girl was found by the roadside. Several stitches were necessary to close five deep gashes in her scalp.

Miss Hume, a student at the School of Horiculture for Women here, said a sedan "drove up so close I thought it would knock me down."

"Something hit me—I thought it was the side mirror on the car," she recounted. "Then I saw a man leaning out the window with a horrible leer on his face. He had a big hammer in his hand. I was so scared I just froze. The big hammer seemed to pass before my face and then it came down on my head with an awful crash. x x x As I sank to my knees he hit me four or five times more."

Revised Plan For Discharges Made

Washington, Nov. 8—(AP)—The army has decided to release this month enlisted men with 50 or more discharge points who are on furlough and enlisted men on temporary duty in the United Sttaes.

Most of the men affected, the War Department explained, were in units from Europe whose scheduled redeployment to the Pacific was cancelled after Japan surrendered. It did not estimate the number affected.

The present general discharge score is 60 points.

The army also has laid down exemptions from overseas duty which will affect about 125,000 officers and enlisted men.

Soldier Vote Will Decide Judgeships

Pittsburgh, Nov. 8—(AP)—A military ballot of 12,000 to 14,000, to be counted November 16, will decide whether Judge Joseph A. Richardson or Judge Harry M. Montgomery shall occupy a seat in common pleas court.

Richardson, Republican, held a lead of 2,414 over Democrat Montgomery on the face of unofficial returns from 1019 of Allegheny county's 1,027 election districts.

Generally conceded, though not mathematically in the bag, were elections of Congressman Samuel A. Weiss, Democrat, and District Attorney Russell H. Adams, Republican, to two of the places on common pleas court.

Weiss was credited with 218,413 votes, Adams with 211,888.

Only three judges were to be elected. One of the persons in the top group of four must fall by the wayside with the military ballot count and the official canvass.

If Judge Richardson retains his seat, the court will be evenly balanced, with eight Republicans and eight Democrats, as soon as Judge Michael A. Musmano, in service with the navy, returns to take his place on the bench. Election of Judge Montgomery would give the court nine Democrats to seven Republicans.

This Family Never Loses In An Election

Lodi, N. Y., Nov. 7—(AP)—Mrs. Anna Boyer, Republican candidate for the office of tax collector, polled 308 votes Tuesday, running against her husband, Budd Buyer, who was on the Democratic ticket.

The voters gave Boyer 124 votes. The Boyers have opposed each other for election to that office in the past several years and Mrs. Boyer hasn't lost yet.

Naval Chief Is Supporter Of Training Plan

BULLETIN

Washington, Nov. 8—(AP)—The house military committee's first session to consider universal military training broke up today in a dispute over a move to postpone further action until next year. The surprise move by Rep. Short (R-Mo) was blocked on a technicality, but he asserted he would renew the attempt tomorrow. He told reporters: "You can say this bill is dead; it would be dead right now if we had been allowed to vote this morning." The controversy flared as Secretary of War Robert J. Patterson completed testimony in behalf of the program requested last month by President Truman.

Washington, Nov. 8—(AP)—Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson testified today development of the atomic bomb made essential prompt adoption of universal military training.

"There is only one justification for the establishment of a universal military program," Patterson said. "It is needed to give the United States security and to make it possible for us to underwrite world peace. That is the only basis for asking that every young American give a year of his life to such training."

Patterson was the first witness as the house military committee began consideration of President Truman's Oct. 22 request for immediate approval of legislation to build up a trained reserve through compulsory peacetime training.

Patterson said many people "have convinced themselves that all we shall need in a future crisis are a supply of atomic bombs and a competitive handful of trained men to push the buttons that will set off the bombs."

But, he added, he knew of "no responsible military authority who shares that belief."

"On the contrary," he declared, "all are agreed that the bomb's capacity for destruction and the suddenness with which it can strike enormously increase the need for maintaining in every section of the United States trained citizen-soldiers capable of swift mobilization in the event of an atomic or airborne attack."

He said no one knows ultimate potentialities of the new weapon. "But we known enough to know that is has made war more terrible and more total than before."

"There would be no non-combatants in a future war; every man, woman or child would be in the danger zone," he warned.

Six Army Fliers Die In Air Crash

Elmira, N. Y., Nov. 8—(AP)—Six army fliers were killed today when two planes collided over Chemung county airport.

Airport officials said the planes were from the Treasury Department's "Wings of Victory" armada.

The dead were not immediately identified.

Five of the men were in a B-25 bomber and the other was flying a P-47 Thunderbolt.

Officials said the planes had just taken off and were about 100 feet off the ground when the wing tips collided.

Both planes burst into flames and crashed.

The fliers were en route to Stewart Field, near West Point, after an 8th Victory Loan trip. They took off from Mitchell Field.

Suspect Is Held In Erie Burglaries

Erie, Nov. 8—(AP)—Detective Captain Roy Mong announced today a 22-year-old Erie man was being questioned about a long series of bedroom burglaries which have frightened housewives and brought about an intense police hunt for a "tall thin man with a long black coat."

Mong said the man, a resident of the City Mission, admitted two recent housebreaks. The suspect, a native of Kane, came here from Oakdale, in 1943. No charges have been filed against him.

A dozen housewives have claimed they got a fleeting glimpse of the "bedroom burglar", who was frightened off by their screams. His loot comprised jewelry and money snatched from trouser pockets.

Assassination Attempt On Jap Home Minister Is Foiled

Tokyo, Nov. 8—(AP)—Two vagrant Kamikaze pilots who waited with drawn knives in the darkened halls of the home ministry attempted vainly last night to assassinate Home Minister Kenjiro Horikiri.

The 61-year-old minister, attacked as he returned from addressing a meeting of police chiefs on the increase of crime and "chaotic" conditions in Japan, was not injured. The assailants were taken in custody.

At his desk as usual today, Horikiri dismissed the attempt against his life as "unimportant," except as it emphasized the increased "restlessness" among the people.

"The social situation, as you know, is deteriorating," he told The Associated Press in a telephone interview. The attack, he added, increased his personal intention to "work harder for the maintenance of public order."

Horikiri said he possibly would visit the Ueno Park Relief Station where the two former pilots have been living with hundreds of other vagrants, many of whom are forced to sleep in the open. The attack, he said, was in protest against conditions at the station.

The critical food situation, which the home minister placed as the focal point of the unrest, has been multiplied by flourishing black market and the increasing reluctance of farmers to sell their produce at government prices, which are only about one-thirtieth of the black market

T. W. A. Official Is Killed In Crash

Cairo, Nov. 8—(AP)—Jack Nichols, vice president in charge of international operations of transcontinental and Western Airlines, and seven other persons were killed at Asmara, Eritrea, in a plane crash Wednesday, the U. S. Army announced tonight.

The other dead were two TWA officials, A. J. Naylor and Milo H. Campbell, and the army crew of five.

Names of the army crewmen were withheld pending the notification of relatives.

The plane, a B-25 bomber, crashed at 6:30 a. m. Wednesday as it was taking off for the Ethiopian capital, Addis Ababa. The cause of the crash was still undetermined.

Fight by Auto Workers For Increase in Wages Is Nearing A Showdown

U. S. STEEL POLICY REBUFF TO PRESIDENT

Will Not Resume Wage Talks With CIO Until the Government Decides Price Issue

AWAIT OPA ACTION

Washington, Nov. 8—(AP)—President Truman's labor - management conference toiled through a bulging agenda today, but United States Steel Corporation held the capital's attention with a sharp rebuff to Mr. Truman's wage-price policy.

Through its president, Benjamin F. Fairless, the corporation notified Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach it would not resume talks with the CIO Steel Workers until it had the government's answer on steel price increases.

Fairless dashed cold water, also, on Mr. Truman's proposal that employers grant wage increases now, then wait six months before seeking a price ceiling adjustment from OPA if profits dwindled sharply.

Fairless said if wages are boosted, additional steel price increases—beyond those already pending—will be needed and the corporation, he added, will insist on assurances from OPA that they would be granted "simultaneously" with any wage hike.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO and of the United Steel Workers, had accepted Schwellenbach's proposal that collective bargaining be resumed—in what Murray said was the spirit of Mr. Truman's wage-price speech last Tuesday—under a special conciliator.

The labor secretary's office said Schwellenbach had received both Fairless's and Murray's letters, was "considering" them, and might issue a statement today. The letters were made public.

Grim Story Of Nip Brutality Is Unfolded

By DEAN SCHEDLER

Manila, Nov. 8—(AP)—The grim story of a Japanese reign of terror in Batangas province where 25,000 men, women and children were brutally mistrated or murdered in seven months began to unfold today before the military commission hearing war crimes charges against Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita.

Survivors have said that the death toll of civilians was far greater in Batangas than it was in Manila. Populations of entire villages, these survivors have reported, were held at bay at the point of Japanese guns while the invaders burned down all their homes.

The prosecution's first Batangas witness was Lt. James P. Healey, Jr., of San Francisco, a war crimes investigation officer, who said he learned that some 6,000 Japanese soldiers ran rampant over the province from Oct. 9, 1944, to May 1 of this year, committing acts of brutality on the grounds their victims were guerrillas.

Next witness was a Filipino, Pampilo Umali, from the province, who related that he was tied up with "about 700 men and I don't know the number of women but there were many," and "led off to

ERIE TALON PLANT IS DISRUPTED BY STRIKE

Erie, Nov. 8—(AP)—A strike of 25 tool and die makers, members of the International Association of Machinists, partially disrupted operations last midnight at the Erie plant of Talon, Inc., makers of zippers.

Some employes who went out for a 1 o'clock luncheon found picket lines when they returned and did not reenter the plant; but a majority of the 150 on the night shift continued to work the turn out.

The walkout came almost immediately after a National Labor Relations Board announcement at Pittsburgh that the tool and die makers had voted 23 to 2 in favor of a strike.

COMPROMISE ADJUSTMENT IS REJECTED

General Motors Formally Turns Down as "Excessive" Demands of Union

REPORT ON FORD VOTE

BULLETIN

Detroit, Nov. 8—(AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers announced today a charge of violating the Wagner act would be filed against General Motors Corporation. Walter P. Reuther, vice president of the UAW-CIO, said he would file the charge personally at the Detroit office of the National Labor Relations office this afternoon.

By the Associated Press

The fight by CIO-United Automobile Workers to obtain 30 per cent wage increases for the nation's auto workers appeared headed for a showdown today as the last group of employes in motor's "Big Three" voted in favor of a work stoppage to support the union's demands.

The union yesterday flatly rejected a compromise wage adjustmen program offered by General Motors Corporation at the renewal of negotiations in Detroit. Earlier GM had formally turned down as "excessive" the union's demand for a 30 per cent wage rate hike in the motor industry.

Meanwhile, early returns from yesterday's National Labor Relations Board election among 80,000 Ford Company workers disclosed a heavy majority approved a work stoppage to support the union's wage proposal. Previously employes at General Motors and Chrysler Corporation sanctioned the possible strike action.

The newest flareup in the motor industry - labor fight came as the United States Steel Corporation declined Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach's proposal to reopen wage negotiations with CIO-Steelworkers under a special conciliator.

CIO President Philip Murray earlier had accepted the labor secretary's suggestion that the collective bargaining conference be resumed "in the spirit" of President Truman's recent wage-price speech. The union had asked a $2 a day wage increase. A strike vote among some 500,000 steel company employes is scheduled Nov. 28.

Benjamin F. Fairless, U. S. Steel president, however, in a letter to Schwellenbach said existing ceiling prices "do not enable us to grant a wage increase at this time," and that negotiations would be useless until the price question is settled.

The automobile and steel disputes held the center of attention along the nation's labor front. Work stoppages across the country kept idle some 275,000 workers.

Street car and bus service in Washington, tied up for nearly two days because of a walkout of 4,000 AFL employes of the Capital Transit Co. was back to normal today as negotiations on wages got under way. The strikers returned to their jobs yesterday after a conciliation conference guaranteed no disciplinary action by the struck company. The union is asking for a 30 cents an hour wage increase.

Picketing at one of the two plants of Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. in Akron, O., was reported ended and some of the 10,000 workers made idle by a work stoppage yesterday returned to their jobs. The stoppage occurred in a dispute between the company

Department Heads Ordered To Aid Pearl Harbor Probe

Washington, Nov. 8—(AP)—The White House said today that President Truman has ordered that the joint congressional committee investigating Pearl Harbor must be supplied with any information it desires.

His memorandum, to federal department and agency heads, as well as to the joint chiefs of staff, authorizes all employes under them to give the committee "any information of which they may have knowledge."

The White House said the president sent out the memorandum last night.

In it he also requested the department heads to authorize employes, even if they aren't questioned by the committee, to "come forward voluntarily" and report any information which they may believe has not been disclosed previously to the congressional investigators.

The president's action came at a time when Republicans and Democrats on the investigating committee were contending that political considerations are imperiling the value of the whole inquiry.

"They have given it such a political turn," Senator George (D-Ga) said of the Republicans, "that I doubt the committee can accomplish very much."

Senator Brewster (R-Me), terming the Democrats' stand "very unfortunate," added: "If there ever was a committee that should be free of partisanship, it is here."

Brewster's contention was that otherwise the public would lack confidence in the ultimate findings.

George and Brewster were interviewed separately prior to a closed door session of the committee.

There are five senators and five representatives on the committee, assigned the job of getting out the whole story on the Japanese success at Pearl Harbor in 1941.

Urges Prayers On Thanksgiving Day

Harrisburg, Nov. 8—(AP)—Thankfulness "as never before" should be in the hearts of Pennsylvanians in the traditional observance of Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 22, Gov. Martin said today in his formal proclamation of the holiday.

"By Divine favor, we have been granted victories over those who plotted in darkness to destroy all that we hold sacred," Martin stated. "Through God's mercy, our nation has been gided safely through the perils of war."

Martin said our prayers should ask that "our nation and the world be spared the agonies of conflict in the future."

He asked a display of the American flag to symbolize "our patriotic loyalty and devotion to the ideals of liberty, justice and equal opportunity" in addition to the traditional observance of the day in home and church.

Windows Of Stores Reflect Holiday Spirit

Store windows about the city are beginning to display toys and gifts for the Christmas season and the volume of buying is also swelling with the purchase of gifts. Stocks are being added to in most of the stores by the arrival of goods that were ordered months ago. Buying for the holiday season this year was later than in other years due to trouble of manufacturers to obtain materials with which to turn out toys, etc.

The buying is not quite as heavy as it was last fall when packages were being readied for overseas sending. Many thousands of soldiers are on their way home and the Christmas mailing this year was comparatively light to men overseas in the armed forces.

Metal toys are again making their appearance this year and boys wagons and doll carts for girls are again in the market although not in great quantities. Chemical sets and magic outfits have a big place on the toy counters this year and there promises to be a greater selection for the little folk than for several years past.

Chills Coming With Mercury Below Normal

Chills and winds are just ahead with the mercury sinking below normal Friday. However warmer weather is promised for Saturday and Sunday. Showers are also promised for tonight and again on Sunday. Temperatures over the weekend are expected to be a little higher than normal.

Reports today from the west are that a cold draft is moving down from Canada and that it is expected in Chicago tonight with a definite turn for cold weather with temperatures down to about 15 degrees above zero.

So far this fall the weather has been almost true to form with the mercury a little above normal in this section. September was an unusually wet month and early October was marked by showers but the past few weeks have been highly enjoyable.

Darling Store Heads Buying For Christmas

Eddie Sullivan, manager of the Darling store in this city, impressario of the Christmas Celebration and new papa of a bambino de luxe has returned from Buffalo where he purchased furniture for the local store. Eddie has a sort of persuasive manner which enables him to garner a few truckloads of furniture of the hard to get type for the holiday trade. "Of course", Eddie says, "I got a lot of the newest living room suites, bed room embellishments and a lot of the things a fellow needs in the kitchen. And that's important, too, as the best regulated families now entertain in the kitchen more than in the living room as I landed some of the most oscamelious kitchen equipment you ever saw. Just sort of got something for every room in the house, And, of yes, for that kitchen entertaining we have the Hotpoint Refrigerators everyone has been wanting."

And incidentally while Eddie was in Buffalo G. B. Darling was in New York he purchased heavily of sparklers of various sizes, watches, fountain pins, bracelets, etc., etc. for the holiday trade. "It's going to be a great year", said Mr. Darling "with everyone possessing plenty of money and the buying scheduled to be heavy. This is reflected by the number of buyers in the markets but I certainly was lucky and got just about everything I wanted. However the early buyer, as usual, will be the fortunate fellow."

A chemical can was used to halt the fire but the flow of oratory on the part of the firemen as they reeled up scores of lengths of hose was unchecked.

GOOD PROGRESS MADE

Sandwiches are now being featured at the shop.

In the matter of store hours, it is understood, compliance will be a matter to be determined by the individual management. It has also been announced that since Armistice Day comes on Sunday this year no change in the regular hours will be adopted. Most of the retail establishments will open as usual on Monday, November 12.

Lesser, chairman of the Pall Roll Savings Division of the Victory Loan Drive, announced today he has received the first reports from about 36% of Warren's 22 industries who accepted a Victory Loan quota for employes. Very Important Question Is Before Conference On Labor

BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 8—(AP)—The men at the labor-management conference have this very important question on their minds but may do nothing about it.

Should there be an abritration board to settle labor-industry disputes if labor and management can't settle a dispute themselves?

There are labor and industry leaders who want no part of such a board. They fear it might mean, eventually, government dictation to labor and industry.

The preferred way is for labor and management to set around a table, discuss their dispute, and reach an agreement.

That's the way it is now. Too often it doesn't work well. The negotiations break down and labor strikes or management shuts down its plant.

The only thing the government can do to help when negotiations break down is this:

Send in its labor conciliators to try to get both sides together again in the hope they'll finally agree on something.

Under the law the government can't go beyond that. So if conciliation also fails, strikes can go on indefinitely, or a plant can remain closed.

Now look at what President Truman told the labor-management conference:

"If labor and management find they cannot come to an agreement, a way must be found of resolving their differences without stopping production.

"Finding the best way to accomplish that result without government direction to either labor or industry—that is your job.

"The American people know the enormous size of your task. But the stakes are enormous, too. If the people do not find the answers here they will find them some place else."

You can read anything you like into that statement. Labor and management men at the conference probably did not overlook this possible warning:

If labor-industry strife ties this country up in knots after the conference—because the conferees failed to work out machinery for settling disputes—congress may set up an arbitration board to do the settling.

There are bills in congress now to set up such a board.

It is impossible to say what form that board might take.

Coupling Co. Agents Here For Meeting

Representatives of the Thomas Flexible Coupling Company are in Warren for a three day sales convention. These men represent the local company in every state in the union and have been brought to the home office for a concentrated three day study of new designs and installations developed during the war and which are now being converted to peace time uses.

The Thomas Couplings were installed on nearly every type of rotating equipment used during the war. Some of these installations include over 70,000 couplings for gun mounts 30,000 couplings for generating sets used in auxiliary lighting, weldig, etc.; 25,000 couplings used on radar equipment; 10,000 couplings for compressors, pumps and turbines; 5,000 couplings for ship propulsions; 3,000 for Diesel locomotives; and an undisclosed quantity on the now famous Manhattan Project.

The local plant was not confronted with a reconversion problem as they have manufactured couplings only for the past thirty-one years. They employ approximately 100 people and have reduced their total employment less than one percent since V-J Day.

THE STATE POLICE SAY:

In overtaking another car it is important that we know what is behind us. If a car has approached from the rear and has already started to pass, we will be sideswiped if we suddenly swing ut. It is a good driving practice to glance into the rear-view mirror before pulling out to pass the car ahead. If a signal has been given by the operator of a car directly back of you, indicating his desire to pass, keep to the right and do not increase speed.

PROMISES FOR PALESTINE

Under a League of Nations mandate, Great Britain in 1922 committed itself to eventual independence for Palestine. Britain also undertook to establish a Jewish National Home there and to safeguard the civil and religious rights of the Arab population.

Although the United States declined to accept the League of Nations mandate, it has more recently gotten into the picture by making promises both to the Jews and Arabs.

Such is the background—a background of broken promises—for the current violence in Egypt and Palestine.

Both the Jews and the Arabs, tired of conflicting plans for solution of the vital and delicate Palestine problem, now are demanding fulfillment of these promises.

That the conflict—which has raged intermittently for a quarter of a century—now is at a critical stage, is evidence by the fact that the pressure on both sides is stronger than ever before. The international movement for a Jewish home worked tirelessly for supporters throughout the war and now has a tremendous backing. On the other hand, the Arabs now are joined in a powerful Arab League comprising the seven states of Syria, Lebanon, Trans-Jordan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Yemen and Egypt, representing about 40,000,000 people.

Foreign oil and strategic interests in the Near East give the Arabs a lever with which to exert strong pressure. King Ibn Saud, the most powerful figure in the Arab world, already is reported to have threatened cancellation of important U. S. oil concessions in his dominion if Arab demands are not satisfied.

The League now is meeting in Cairo, where most of the recent violence has occurred, and is expected to take a stand on the Palestine problem as well as other Near East questions, including the Arab position in all North Africa from the Strait of Gibraltar to the Persian Gulf.

This problem, involving the question of a home for Jews as against the rights of the Arabs, is too dangerous to postpone a solution. The British and U. S. policy of promises and delay will only worsen the situation if permitted to continue. As in the other trouble spots of the world, action is needed quickly to prevent the problem from becoming any more deep-rooted than it is.

HEALTHY SUGGESTIONS

Three years ago the Rockefeller Foundation instituted a survey of the nation's 20,000 private, non-profit health agencies. The results just published reveal a picture of uneven and duplicated effort as well as excellent accomplishment.

The report casts no reflection upon the 300,000 board members and the many more voluntary workers who last year collected almost $60,000,000 for the relief of suffering, and eradication of disease, and the creation of a healthier nation. Rather it suggests that widely varying efficiency of organization among various agencies has brought about a great discrepancy between the incidence of disease and the money available for treatment.

For example, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis collected $16,500,000 in 1945, while the American Heart Association collected $100,000.

The report suggests two remedies: a central agency to give coordinated leadership to the whole national health movement; and local health councils, representing all community agencies, which would integrate health planning and the raising and distribution of funds in the light of local needs.

"The Warren Retailer," official mouthpiece of the Retail Merchants' Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, reminds: "The money contributed in 1944 for the Victory celebration is in an interest account until a suitable time arrives for the Citizens Committee to promote a celebration in accordance with the agreement made with the contributors at the time the money was solicited. This will probably be some time next year when more of the boys will be home. It may be July 4th or it may be in connection with the proposed memorial."

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By BOB THOMAS

"Stork Club," a Paramount Picture with Betty Hutton, Barry Fitzgerald, Don deFore, Robert Benchley and Andy Russell. Running time: 96 minutes.

HOLLYWOOD—"Stork Club," like "Weekend at the Waldorf" and "Diamond Horseshoe," is a picture centered around a New York commercial establishment. If this continues, we will be seeing such features as "Murphy's Motel," "Ptomaine Tommy's" and "The Greasy Spoon."

On the whole, the trend is not a happy one. In the attempt to glorify a hostelry or saloon, the movie maker is inclined to forget story values and to presume that the so-called glamor of the background is enough to justify the picture. It ain't.

In "Stork Club" it is evident that the producers started with the title and then designed a plot around the night spot. It is pleasant, but a contrivance nevertheless.

* * *

THE story concerns a hat check girl (Betty Hutton) who saves a millionaire (Barry Fitzgerald) from drowning. He rewards her with a sumptuous apartment and charge accounts, but poses as a bum to watch her enjoy the windfall. Complications arise when her boy friend (Don deFore) comes home from the marines and wonders how she got the gifts.

The picture is somewhat superfluous, but the performances are good. Betty Hutton continues on her beautifully violent way and delivers some sock musical numbers. Fitzgerald does the best he can with his limited material, and his best is plenty good. DeFore continues to impress as a new leading man. Crooner Andy Russell shows promise in his screen debut. The good Mr. Benchley is virtually wasted.

"Colonel Effingham's Raid," a 20th-Fox picture with Charles Coburn, Joan Bennett, William Eythe and Allyn Joslyn. Running time: 71 minutes.

HERE is a pleasant picture, done with brevity and good taste. It is handsomely but not expensively mounted, and concentrates more on story values than excessive production.

The main attribute of "Colonel Effingham's Raid" is its humor. Much of it is subtle—the crisp military terms used by the colonel, the unabashed corruption of the small town politicos. Much of it is heightened by a sprightly musical score, which provides a drum roll when the colonel's orderly walks in, a chorus of whistles when Joan Bennett's legs are viewed.

The picture is Coburn's. The other performers, principally William Eythe, are excellent, although overshadowed by the star performer.

A Good Neighbor

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Factory versus Farm: A Draw

Mel Bates and Jud Polk were arguing the other day about the factory versus the farm. Jud has a job in the tool works and Mel grows the best corn in the county.

"Where would you farmers be," Jud says, "if it weren't for the factories that make your plows and tractors?"

"And where would you factory workers be," says Mel, "unless we farmers grew the food that keeps you going?"

Well, they called it a draw, and made peace over a glass of beer, "brewed from golden farmer's grain," allows Jud, "... and bottled and kept wholesome by the ingenuity of industry," Mel adds politely.

From where I sit, we may have different occupations, different standards, different opinions ... but we're all necessary to one another. And the more we skip the differences, and stress the bigger issues of co-operation, tolerance, and understanding ... the closer we are to a better world.

CHEMURGY

Chemurgy will do its share to augment the Nation's post-war wealth and income to be shared by holders of War Bonds. The new science provided war industries with essential raw materials that were formerly secured from foreign sources. It furnishes now numerous necessities of life from common farm crops. Ohio lists scores of products of corn kernels, wheat, soybeans, sugar beets, potatoes and grapes. Glue, paint, candles, soap, celluloid and endless numbers of other derivatives are obtained from vegetation through the operation of chemurgy.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Ex-Fire Chief Proposes Site For Station

In connection with the discussion underway relative to a site for a new Central Fire Station Former Fire Chief D. G. Kropf suggests that the new station be built at the foot of Market street. He proposes that the station be erected astride the mill race facing directly north. According to his suggestion the rear of the station would be on the island where ground sufficient for the establishment of a training yard could be had. The station facing the north would allow the department to drive directly out on Pennsylvania avenue with a traffic tripper holding traffic until the trucks were out on the avenue. In this site the trucks would also be able to drive into the station and be spotted from the rear.

At the recent Council meeting the building committee reported that the island site at times was covered with water, according to information they had received. It is pointed out by many that the Newmaker property has never been covered with water in the past 40 years and that Clark street has been filled in several feet since the water rose at the south end of Liberty street. Many are still of the opinion that the site on the island is the best yet proposed.

The building committee also reported on the Market street site and also on the lot just west of the Reliable Furniture store between the millrace and creek on Pennsylvania avenue.

There is also the possibility that the committee may recommend that the station now in use be overhauled and continued in use. This would cost considerable money, but not as much as the building of an entire new station. However, persons familiar with the fire department feel the old station is obsolete and not in any way fitted for use as a Central station as there is not sufficient ground about it for a training school.

Her service in that theatre extended through New Guinea and the Philippines campaigns, earning for her three battle stars to the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon and one for the Philippine Liberation ribbon.

The other dispatch states that after 30 months of active duty, Angelina J. Santoro, WAVE aviation machinist's mate first class (technician), was honorably discharged November 6 at the naval separation unit in New York City. Isolationism As a National Policy Rapidly Disappearing

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
(Substituting for James Marlow)

Washington—(AP)—The ramparts are tumbling down around the continent of North America. In fact, you might say they have already tumbled.

A new concept in American defense is growing up. It is based on the belief that the geographical reasons for isolationism as a national policy have disappeared.

There isn't any isolation any more.

The new defense lines of the United States are on the Mississippi—or at Pittsburgh—or Chicago—or St. Louis—if and when there is another war. President Truman is authority for that.

These are his words:

"In any future war, the heart of the United States would be the enemy's first target. Our geographical security is now gone—gone with the advent of the robot bomb, the rocket, aircraft carriers and modern airborne armies."

Fit this together with two pieces of information recently given congress:

A scientist who worked on the atom bomb said that in a single night's attack on this country 40,000,000 persons might be killed.

General George C. Marshall said that victory over Hitler was possible because the British and Russian people refused to admit defeat.

The British and Russian people could stand up and fight back because they had time and space in which to recover from Hitler's terrible first blows and prepare for the counter-attack.

But what Mr. Truman now tells the American people is that if they are ever attacked they will not have time to recover. They must, in his opinion, be ready to fight on the instant, or else—

Some of the scientists who have estimated the full future powers of atomic bombs appear to doubt whether even Mr. Truman's analysis of the danger is revolutionary enough.

Their argument is that in terms of destruction and death the United States can't afford to have a war, ready or not.

But as a first measure Mr. Truman says the country must be ready, and so powerful that it may hope no nation will dare to attack.

One of the first captured German aircraft flown to the United States was a JU-220 four-motored bomber. Comparable to a B-29, it does 240 miles an hour, and carries 90 men.

When manufacture of new cars ended in 1942, there were bout 30 million cars registered in this country.

Harpo Turns Down $10,000 Rather Than Say One Word

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Nov. 8—(AP)—Fifty-five thousand dollars for one word—that's what the man says.

David Loew's press agent swears on a stack of old Marx Brothers scripts that the producer offered Harpo Marx $55,000 to utter one word. The word is "murder" and it would be spoken in an important scene in the Marx opus, "Adventures in Casablanca." The producer claimed that a word on the screen by the usually mute Harpo would be worth the money in exploitation value.

But Harpo says no—or just shakes his head. He claims by speaking he would ruin a characterization he has created over a period of years. He declares if he ever speaks on the screen he'll play a non-mute character and talk his yap ofr.

Better think it over, Harpo. Fifty-five grand to say "murder"—that's about $9,166.66 a letter.

My favorite biographer, Gene Fowler, took time out from writing another of his wonderful books to tell me about his plans to memorialize John Barrymore.

"Now don't get me wrong," he warned, "I'm no philanthropist or benefactor. It's just that I wouldn't wont ta see the story of Jack's life loused up by some big studio."

So Gene himself is going to make a movie of his best-selling biography of Barrymore, "Good Night, Sweet Prince." I asked him about his choice to play the great actor.

"I like this guy Zachary Scott," he said. "I haven't seen much of his work, but he seems to have the spirit to play the character and not merely an imitation."

Returned U. S. Army Chaplain Gives Views On Veterans

The first meeting for the 51st eason of the Social Science Sec- ion, Warren Academy of Scienc- s, was the occasion for an ex- ellent paper and discussion by tev. Edward K. Rogers. He took or his subbject "When GI Comes Home." He is highly qualified o speak on this point, having ust recently returned after serv- ng as a chaplain in the First Di- ision in the European theatre.

He opened his talk by pointing ut that this is a difficult subject o treat in a general way, due to he variances of influences upon he veteran as well as his own nake-up. Some men, he said, were .bl› to stand the strain and rigors of army life under all conditions, and not lose their moral and mental balance, while others fall by the wayside. Many other causes affect the attitudes and outlook of the potential veteran, as Rev. Rogers brought out. These things affect his viewpoint and, as a result, the attitude he has when he is again about to become a civilian.

One point the speaker tried to drive home was that while life in the service brought many new forces to bear on each individual, it could not change the individual's character. If he had strength, he withstood the buffetings of danger, regimentation, boredom, etc. If not, then seemingly he changed. However, he was inherently strong or weak before entering the service. He then went on to discuss the feelings of the man in serving. He pointed out that many GI's took the attitude of wanting to get the war over just so they could go home, not so much because they were fighting that freedom of individual action might prevail throughout the world.

Some, he said, will not want to find changes when they come home, nor make a change in what they were doing before entering the service. Others will want to take advantage of the skills they have learned or the opportunities offered for further education under the GI Bill of Rights. This latter, he thought, would largely apply to those who entered the service directly from high school. Some willl want to start a business of their own, and here he thought that we, who are in business now, could be of real real service to the veteran. He will need a great deal of coaching and aid in understanding the complicities of the business world in order to avoid its many stumbling blocks and pitfalls. The veteran also will want to marry, if he has not already, and here again he needs counsel to be not too hasty in choosing a life mate. Rev. Rogers epressed the belief that the veteran is not so much interested in bonuses as in an opportunity to make his own way, realizing that bonuses cannot correct inequalities or recognize the work done by a combat man.

The speaker seemed to think the veteran will be disturbed over labor-management unrest in the country; also that we should welcome him not with the expression "how does it feel to be home," but rather "glad to have you back home." Thus, if he wants to talk about what he has seen and done he is free to do so and is not forced to recall the things he would rather forget.

It was pointed out, also, in the speaker's opinion, the psychological problems attached to the veteran's return have been overstated and we could do him more good by treating him in a kind, considerable way. He concluded by pointing out that some do strange things not so much due to their connection with the war, but going back to their background and training prior to entering the service.

How a flat wage increase will affect various industries in different ways is suggested by chart above, showing percentage of increase in straight-time pay. Flat wage raise will hit industries which have greatly increased wage rates during war harder than it will those in which increase was slight. Another problem in equitable wage increases is presented by the difference in working hours, as indicated on inset. Maintenance of take-home pay will be more difficult in industries where hours were increased, with resultant overtime pay, than in those in which work hours were cut or remained fairly static.

Holding their regular meeting at the Carver Hotel at noon on Wednesday, members of the Kiwanis Club were reminded of the annual Ladies' Night to be observed at the North Warren community house next Wednesday evening, November 14.

Arrangements will center about the harvest theme, the affair to be informal and the committee promising fun and entertainment for all who attend. Tickets were distributed at the meeting and indications point to a large attendance. Reservations for the party will be closed on Friday evening, it is stated.

Members and their guest, Dr. Arthur O'Connor, heard a fine talk given by Harold Putnam on some phases of the history and development of Warren county. Going back to the days of French and English struggles for the tertory and the early selection of Warren as site for a community, he related the establishment of the county about 1880, institution of legal processes in 1819, the first steamboat to come here in 1930 from Pittsburgh and the visit of the second, the New Castle, en route from Pittsburgh to Olean in 1837. He also recalled that a keel boat was poled from Pittsburgh to Mayville at the northern end of Chautauqua lake about that same time. The Indian settlements and many other incidents of early days added color and interest to the fine address.

Turkey Crop This Year Is Large, Recent Survey Shows

America's original native bird, the turkey, will be available to consumers this year—thus the housewife gets one more break as a result of the conclusion of the war. So says the turkey marketing committee of the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council, which made a survey of the turkey crop recently.

Growers who know the demands of the average family warn housewives that orders should be placed early to insure the type of turkey desired. While the growers were producing turkeys for the armed forces, they produced birds larger than generally desired for the family holiday dinner. As a result, the growers committee pointed out there will be a higher percentage of the larger birds this year. The larger male birds weigh from 25 to 30 pounds each, while the large females average about 20 pounds each.

Many of the larger birds will be purchased by hotels and restaurants because of requiring less sotrage space and because they produce more servings. It is too late to regulate the size of the bird this year, growers claim. The average size family usually prefers a young hen turkey, which is the first of the flock to disappear. Thus, the reason why the marketing committee from the growers organization advises ordering turkeys early.

A. L. Mackie, East Kingston, N. H., president of the Northeast turkey growers group, points out that this does not mean the members of the armed forces will not be served turkeys. Mr. Mackie said: "We know the military forces will have sufficient turkeys to serve our men and women still in uniform during the holidays."

Chicago Motor Club and the Automobile Club of Michigan have joined forces to help bring about a Chicago-Detroit Expressway, permanently linking those two cities with a modern, up-to-date super-highway. Traffic surveys have shown that present facilities linking Detroit and Chicago are carrying from 5000 to 10,000 vehicles a day.

Swede Larson, Famous Navy Mentor, Dies

Atlanta, Nov. 8—(AP)—Colonel Emery Ellsworth "Swede" Larson, famous football figure and veteran of two wars, is dead.

The passing of the 46-year-old colonel of Marines here yesterday stunned grid fans who had followed his career, first as a player and later as coach of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

The end came after the third of a series of heart attacks. He was first stricken about two weeks ago and removed to the U. S. Naval Air Station Hospital.

A big, likeable man with a booming voice, "Swede" was known for his inspirational leadership and for the "jinx" he held over the Army. In the three years he played center in 1919, 1920 and 1921 and the three years he coached, 1939, 1940 and 1941, Navy scored six straight victories over the West Point Cadets.

During the 1941 game, played at Philadelphia a slim week before Pearl Harbor, Army held a 6-0 half-time lead only to have the Middies rally after the intermission for two third period touchdowns and a 14-6 triumph.

In the dressing room afterwards he told reporters, "This will be the last football game for me for quite a while. There's a bigger game coming up and I'm going to be in it."

Many Attend First Confab Of Y League

Possibilities of a city basketball league equalling those of pre-war days loomed brighter today after a meeting held last night at the YMCA by team representatives and officials.

Nine teams were represented at last night's confab, including Bakers, Blomquists, Sylvania, Forge, and Struthers from last year's league and Sheffield Penn Bottle, Youngsville Skating Rink, Sheffield Servicemen's Unit, and an independent five. The O'Connor Machine Shop, of Sheffield, has also signified its interest in the league.

Those attending the meeting approved the formation of either a nine or ten-team league, with Mondays and Thursdays open for game nights. It is planned to have two games on Monday nights and three games on Thursday nights.

A schedule committee, consisting of "Red" Swanson, Nick Creola, and Lloyd Shirk, program secretary at the Y, was named, and the following officers for the league elected: president—Nick Creola; vice-president — "Red" Swanson; secretary—Richard Harris; treasurer—Felix Mira.

The committee and team representatives will meet again Friday night, at which time the schedule will be proposed, rosters, rules and reglations approved, and other business items taken up.

BEHIND THE LINES

NEW CAGE RULES

Several new basketball rulings have been adopted by the National Rules Committee, none of them major changes, but all of which will become effective here.

Always in the past, when a team took possession of the ball out of bounds under its own basket, one man elected to throw the ball in. A new ruling provides that two men, not one, may stand out of bounds at the same time under their own basket to throw the ball into play. The two men may pass back and forth, trying to confuse the opponent, before passing the ball onto the court.

Always in the past, also, there have been what was termed "officials' time outs" mid-way between each second and fourth quarters. Most of the time, however, these time outs were not enforced. Another new ruling provides that any player who is taken from the game during the final four-minute period may not re-enter the game. Therefore, coaches will not be liable to substitute so freely in the closing minutes because of the ruling.

The third ruling pertains to the ten-second enforcement. This problem has been tinkered with from year to year, and never definitely settled. Last year, if a player had not yet reached mid-court and his ten-second limit was near the end, he could hit a referee or an opposing player who was in defending territory with the ball, so that he would again have possession in the back-court and also an additional ten seconds in which to get the ball into offensive territory. The third new ruling provides that a player may not bounce the ball off a referee, but he may do so to another opposing player.

Swedish Track Stars, Haegg And Andersson, Are Declared Professionals By Officials

Stockholm, Nov. 8—(AP)—Arne Andersson and Gunder Haegg, world-record holding Swedish runners, and 13 top-ranking Swedish track stars, were declared professionals today by the Swedish Athletic Association, the newspaper Expressen said.

There was no official announcement as yet from the association, which has been conducting a sweeping investigation into the entire Swedish track setup.

Earlier the association announced a finding that payments of fees to top Swedish track stars by leading sports clubs constituted a breach of amateur regulations and indicated there would be disciplinary measures against both clubs and performers. The association did not name the individuals involved, and had announced it would not do so until completion of the nationwide inquiry.

A finding that Andersson is professional would cancel his projected trip to the United States for the indoor season this winter.

Swedish sports writers said that classing Haegg and Andersson as professionals might also place some of thei records in jeopardy.

The far-reaching inquiry brought an admission by leaders of Stockholm's biggest sports clubs that fees had been paid top-ranking track stars during the past five years as inducements to participate in track events.

Expressen listed these stars, besides Haegg and Andersson, as having been adjudged professional: Lennart Strandberg, Sweden's best sprinter Hans Liljeqvist, Lars Nilsson, Tore Tillman, Sven Malmberg, Sven Ljungren, Nehry Kaelarne, Aake Spaangert, Bror Hellstroem, Rune Persson, Rune Gustafsson, Eric Elmsaeter and Goesta Jacobsson.

Both Andersson and Haegg told sports writers they would continue to train and Strandberg said in an interview with the Stockholm's Tidningen that if the athletic association went through with its campaign against professionalism, "we will build a professional association composed of 25 of Sweden's current top track performeds."

Bertil Von Wachenfeldt, track writer for the same paper, wrote that "the inevitable result of this action against clandestine professionalism will be to decrease Sweden's track and field events catastrophically next year."

The association had heard testimony from about 100 sports leaders heading athletic clubs.

BROADWAY

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK—When "The Red Mill" turned its merry way into Broadway popularity and became an immediate smash hit despite the fact that it is 40 years old, everyone started looking around for the reason for its sudden success.

While there is no reason to dispute the fact that Eddie Foy Jr., a real chip off his dad's dancing shoes, gathered the best of the reviews, and that Michael O'Shea came in for more than a small share of the kudos thereupon handed around, the real reason for the success of this veneral delight is Billy Gilbert, who directed.

* * *

YEP, this is the same Billy Gilbert whose dialects, sneezes and king-size figure have given many a movie the comic hypodermic it needed. His very appearance many times sent film audiences into guffawing hysterics. This was a fellow who knew his buffooning onions, whose lengthy screen employment had given him excellent opportunity to perfect every sort of nutty comic style. He delved into every textbook on comedy he could find. He wanted to perfect his own droll gifts in order to be a better film funny man.

All this mirthful research, it now turns out, prepared him for a much more responsible job than being a Hollywood comic. His screen appearances paid him handsomely, but he wanted to go on to wider accomplishment: Directing, perhaps, even producing.

A few years ago he found the opportunity he sought. He directed a couple of operettas for the summer series of the Civic Light Opera Association in Los Angeles and San Francisco, under the auspices of Edwin Lester, whose "Song of Norway" is a Broadway smash. "The Gypsy Baron," "The Chocolate Soldier" and other musical revivals gave him the chance to try out his storehouse of theatrical research as well as some fresh ideas of his own. Last year he directed and played in "Sally," and when Edwin Lester saw what he could do, he assigned him promptly to direct "The Red Mill."

* * *

A HIT on the Coast, "The Red Mill" was brought east by Paula Stone and Hunt Stromberg, Jr., son of the Hollywood producer, and now has been established at the Ziegfeld Theater as a definite success. Gilbert's directing came in for major honors, and already he has been signed to direct two more shows for the young but already successful Stone-Stromberg firm.

One note of coincidence: Gilbert was under personal contract 18 years ago to Hunt Stromberg, father of the lad who shares producing honors in the new production of the Victor Herbert operetta.

"And I hope to work with Junior's son sometime, too," Billy said.

WOMAN IS KILLED IN CROSSING TRAGEDY

Sharon, Nov. 8—(AP)—A Pennsylvania railroad passenger train crashed into an automobile at a crossing last night, killing Mrs. Mary Waslko Bonaquist, 24, and critically injuring her husband, James, who was discharged from the Marine Corps only two weeks ago.

The woman's body was found alongside the tracks 100 feet from the crossing and the man was carried 800 feet in the wrecked car. He was taken to Buhl Hospital with a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Sharon police said Bonaquist stopped at the crossing, waited for a freight train to pass, then pulled onto the tracks in front of the passenger train which came from the opposite direction.

OLEAN WILL HAVE A HEARING ON FLOOD

Pittsburgh, Nov. 8—(AP)—The U. S. Engineer's Office announced today a hearing will be held November 19 at Olean, N. Y., to consider the need for flood control in Olean and its vicinity.

A statement giving notice of the hearing said:

"Field investigations indicated that, in view of the extreme floor of July, 1942, Olean, Portville and Allegheny have flood problems and that certain flood protection measures have been taken locally."

The hearing was authorized by congress December 1, 1943, but held in abeyance during the war, although field surveys and investigations have been in progress from time to time, the statement said.

One by one they were made to jump into the well, Umali said.

"When my time came, about 200 already had jumped and after I jumped at least another 100 followed me."

Before Japanese soldiers covered the well with native bamboo sheets, Umali said, they threw in some rocks, "dropped a sewing machine," and fired in many shots.

Sometime after midnight, the witness continued, some Filipino women sneaked to the well and lowered ropes up which six men escaped. Many of the women liberators were captured and never seen again.

The new road-block in the administration's drive for labor peace loomed just as a minor but irritating snag was cleared away—the 30-hour tie-up of all bus and setreet car services in Washington.

Delegates again could ride the trolleys to the labor-management conference, if they chose, under a 14-day truce arranged between striking AFL Traction Workers and the Capital Transit Company. Full service was scheduled today while wage demands are negotiated.

On the Pacific Coast, an AFL unionist, criticizing CIO Lumber Workers for compromising wage demands with operators, said the financial resources of the nation's 850,000 AFL carpenters had been pledged in support of the 60,000 AFL Lumber and Sawmill Workers, now in the seventh week of a strike for a $1.10 hourly minimum wage.

SIX KILLED WHEN AUTO RAMS INTO TREE

Philadelphia, Nov. 8—(AP)—Five veterans of overseas service and a 19-year-old girl were fatally injured today when the automobile in which they were riding rammed a fog-shrouded tree in Mt. Airy suburb.

Robert J. Delaney, 50, of Glenside, discovered the accident while driving home. He said all five of the youths were trapped in the wrecked automobile and that the girl was lying about 40 feet away.

Three Sisters Picket The Supreme Court

Wasington, Nov. 8—(AP)—Now it's the supreme court that's being picketed.

Three Altoona, Pa., sisters paraded in front of the impressive white building yesterday. They carried placrds which claimed that the constitutional rights of one of them, Mrs. Edith Nycum, have been violated.

The supreme court recently refused to review Mrs. Nycum's conviction in a police magistrate court for failure to get a permit to display signs.

Mrs. Nycum said her niece, Margaret Shields Emerick, was slain November 16, 1941, but that city and Blair county authorities called the death a suicide and refused to conduct a coroner's inquest.

She was arrested, she said, after she put up signs in protest. This, she declared, deprived her of her constitutional right of freedom of the press.

Drunk Lucky As Police Save His Bankroll

Police last evening gathered in a fellow who had become possessed of an overload of joy wter and had become a little noisy in his celebration. At the police station when they gave the fellows pockets the "several times over" the sum of $1200 was found. The money was mostly in $50 bills and the fellow can thank the cops for putting himself and his money in safe keeping as had some of the boys about town joined in on his fun they would undoubtedly have given him the famous "roll" treatment. He posted a wad of greenbacks for his hearing this morning.

Sweet dreams of three runaway boys from Olean, who had bedded down in the Company I monument at the bridgehead, were interrupted by police last night. The trio was taken to the police station and confessed that they had ran away from school yesterday at noon and hitchhiked to Warren. Getting here about 9:30 they concluded it was a balmy evening and ensconced themselves on the marble seats for a siesta. The lads gave the names of Bruce Miller, 12; Don McKinney, 13 and Gerald Ozella, 13. The coppers gave the boys a lunch and they slept in the headquarters for the night while police called Olean police headquarters and arranged for the return to the boys to their homes.

"The Hooktown Gang" famed years ago as being possessed of the devil and strong right arms seems to be on the march again. During the past few weeks buses have been stoned, wires placed across sidewalks, street lights broken and last night they proceeded to cut a number of clotheslines at various homes and at one damaged a revolving clothes reel. The cops are on their trail.

A pick-up truck stolen Tuesday night was found in the Penn Bowling Alley parking lot yesterday and returned to its owner.

LUDLOW

their interest in tris splendid school project.

The High School auditorium was the scene of a Hallowe'en party costumesgiven on Tuesday evening. The costumes were appropriately funny and prizes were awarded. The evening was spent in games and other amusements after which lunch was served.

The DeForest Pavilion of Wildcat Park was the scene of a gala affair on Friday night with about sixty people in attendance at a Hallowe'en party representing adults of Ludlow. The costumes were all fine. The most difficult people to guess were Miss Millie Morelli wearing an old-fashioned girl's costume, and Melvin McCleary dressed as an Indian brave. The most noticed costume was a German uniform worn with a Hitler moustache by Clyde Gilfert, the uniform having been sent from Germany. An attractive pair were the Scotch boy and girl costumes worn by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Swanson, and Mrs. Wm. Hanson was pretty as a Colonial girl. Dancing was enjoyed with music furnished by several Kane musicians as well as Mr. Earl Eastman. Mrs. Ed. Wenstran and Mrs. Verna Ralston of Ludlow. Lunch was served in the late evening at an attractively decorated table. The entire pavilion was beautifully decorated. The committee was headed by Mrs. Wm. Hanson and Mrs. Walter Cox with many co-operative assistants.

Mrs. L. B. Connelly entertained on Monday evening at a birthday party for her son, James, who became twelve years old. The afternoon was spent in games and supper was served at six after which Master James opened his interesting gifts. Friends present were Gail Olson, Jack Gilfert, Philip and Michael Swanson, Vernon Nelson, Kiester Connelly and Tommy Safstrom.

Mrs. Evert Johnson entertained at a party on Friday afternoon for her small daughter, Judy, who celebrated her third birthday. Games and other amusements were enjoyed after which birthday refreshments were served. Little guests present were Alexandra Connelly, Gerald and Geraldine Nystrom, Johnny Cox and Shirley Phillips, of Dornsife, Pa. Out of town adults present were: Mrs. Roland Christenson, Mrs. Harold Christenson, Mrs. Eugene Johnson and Mrs. Ellen Brennan, of Kane; Mrs. George Dedman, of Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. Stanton Phillips of Dornsife, Pa., and Mrs. James T. Norton, of Kent, Ohio.

Messrs. Clyde and Keith Gilfert and M. I. Jones spent Saturday in Clarion county hunting for small game, with Keith getting the limit in rabbits. This is the twelfth season that Mr. Clyde Gilfert and Mr. Jones have hunted for one day with H. Seigworth and Robert Graham, of event to which they look forward. It is the second season for Keith who outshone those veteran hunters this season.

G. A. Olson, Miss Tillie Olson and Captain Ellen Olson arrived home on Monday after spending some time with relatives in Pittsburgh, Dayton and Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Lantz and daughter, Linda, of Erie; Miss Betty Lou Anderson, of Syracuse University, and Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Carlson, of Jamestown, were weekend guests of Mrs. Albert Lantz.

Allen Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Nelson, recently discharged from the U. S. Army, has resumed his teaching and coaching position in the Russell high school.

Paul Swanson, recently discharged from the U. S. Army, spent the weekend with his wife in Greenville.

Mrs. Fred Sapper of Erie spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Swanson. Mr. Swanson is recuperating rapidly.

Mrs. Jelmar Mattison is recovering nicely after an operation performed ten days ago. She is a patient at the Kane Summit Hospital.

Henry Shipe of Youngsville spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Connelly.

Mrs. James T. Norton of Kent, Ohio, has been a house guest of Mrs. B. K. Connelly during the last week.

The Community Auxiliary met on Monday evening at Wildcat Park in the DeForest pavilion with a good attendance. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. George W. Olmsted. It was decided to hold the November meeting at the pavilion also. Refreshments were served at a Hallowe'en decorated table by Mrs. Melvin McCleary, Mrs. John Fox Jr., Mrs. R. E. Wenstran, Mrs. Carl L. Swanson and Mrs. George Anderson.
